THE LATEST.

Special Judge William Carnes was upheld by the Court of Appeals in transferring to Elliott county the case of the Commonwealth against James Hargis and others, charged with the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox. The court holds that the Commonwealth should have introduced evidence to combat the transfer to Elliott county so that the higher court could have some facts on which to base an opinion as to whether or not the transfer was proper. The cases will now be tried at Sandy Hook, beginning next Monday.

The body of Mrs. Ellen Flanery was found in a ravine in Letcher county. Her head had been crushed and her body showed other marks of violence. A suspect, who was found with blood on his clothing, is under arrest. The woman was murdered shortly after leaving home, where her four little children waited for her for twenty-four hours before neighbors began the search for the body.

James Hargis was acquitted of the charge of complicity in the murder of James Cockrill, the jury at Lexington returning a verdict of not guilty after being out only an hour. Many of the friends of Hargis were in court when the verdict was returned and for ten minutes a demonstration of approval kept things lively in the court room.

The plant bed of B. B. McCown, president of the Christian County Union of the American Society of Equity, was destroyed by two men and a note of warning left, advising that no more tobacco be grown.

JURY ACQUITS JAMES HARGIS

Sets Him Free After Few Minutes' Deliberation.

Crowd of Friends Noisy In Their Approval.

Only One More Case Against Clan Leader.

BRITTON STILL IN JAIL.

Lexington, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—"Not guilty" was the verdict this morning of the jury before which for the past two weeks James Hargis had been on trial for the murder of James Cockrill at Jackson on July 21, 1902. The verdict was rendered at 8:45 o'clock on the first ballot, there having been no ballot taken last night on account of the illness of Juror Rhody Herndon, Jr.

Within thirty minutes after Judge Hargis was acquitted he and his brother Alex. had signed a bond of $7,500 for the release of Bill Britton, charged with the same offense for which Hargis had just been cleared. Britton was not released from jail, however, as Jailer Ahern held a warrant for the delivery of Britton to the authorities at Sandy Hook to be tried for the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, alleged to have been committed at Jackson. A bond of $10,000 has been fixed for Britton in this case, but the Hargises showed no disposition to sign it and thus set Britton free, and he will be taken to Sandy Hook Saturday.

Verdict Applauded.

When the verdict of not guilty was read a large portion of the crowd, which was made up of Hargis' friends and local politicians, applauded so loudly that Judge Parker sprang to his feet in indignant surprise, and threatened to fine Sheriff McElroy for his failure to keep order in the court room. While the court was lecturing the Sheriff the crowd which had caused the disturbance was surrounding Hargis and wringing both hands and, slapping him on the back, were offering congratulations on his escape.

* * *

Juror Sees Britton.

Scarcely had the jury been dismissed when R. T. Herndon, one of its members, hurried over to the jail, where he was found a few minutes later exchanging solicitations with Britton. Warmly shaking Britton's hand, the juror who had just voted for Hargis' acquittal, said:

"Britton, there is a report that I pulled this jury over for your side and it's d—— right. I am a citizen of the old type and I will stand by you fellows forever. If you ever get hard up just come to me, and as long as I have a bank account you can have my help."

The acquittal of Judge Hargis to-day leaves him under indictment for but one other of the three Jackson assassinations and that is the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, which case is set for trial next Monday at Sandy Hook. Hargis was acquitted of the murder of Cockrill to-day, and of that of J. B. Marcum at Beattyville last July.

* * *

Verdict Soon Reached.

The jury met this morning in their room at the courthouse about 8 o'clock and a few minutes later notified the Sheriff that they were ready to report. At the same time a rumor quickly spread that they had reached a verdict of acquittal. This rumor was soon circulated through the town and by the time Judge Parker, who was at his home, took his seat on the bench, a crowd composed almost exclusively of the Hargis followers from Jackson and Lexington politicians and officeholders, who had been from the start Hargis' active adherents, packed the court room. Hargis, accompanied by his wife, his daughter, Miss Evelyn, and Miss Crawford, a friend of the latter, and the prisoner's close personal friend Breck Combs, ex-Sheriff of Breathitt county, had arrived at the court house and taken seats within the bar. They had apparently been told the result of the verdict, as they showed no signs of uneasiness, but on the contrary the face of the feudal chief was already wreathed in smiles.

The jury was ushered in and Foreman O'Lee in response to the question that they had reached a verdict answered "we have," and coming forward presented the jury's written decision to the clerk.

* * *

Hush In the Court Room.

There was a moment's hush in the court room as the clerk read the momentous words, "We, the jury, find the accused not guilty."

Hardly had the last word been spoken when the crowd broke into tumultuous applause, and then surging over the railing surrounding the bar, congratulated and almost embraced the vindicated man. Meanwhile the court was lecturing the Sheriff for not arresting the persons who caused the disturbance and the latter was protesting his inability to detect the offenders. After the demonstration was over and the jury was discharged. Judge Hargis shook hands with each of the jurors and thanked each personally for the verdict. Judge Hargis then left the courthouse surrounded by a crowd of enthusiastic admirers and proceeded to his headquarters at the Leland Hotel, where he celebrated his acquittal by ordering drinks for the crowd, and was assisted in doing the honors by his brother Alex.

* * *

Hargis Not Surprised.

Between drinks Judge Hargis said for publication:

"I am not surprised at the verdict rendered. I expected it and knew that it would be granted by any jury of reasonable, thinking men. When a man lives for forty-odd years without a smirch against his character and is then brought into court and sworn against by a bunch of scalawags it is hard to find a jury that would convict him. My friends have stood by me and have believed that such a verdict would come sooner or later, but I had all faith that it would come at this time. I may return to Jackson this afternoon or I may remain here for two or three more days. I am anxious to be with my family at home, from whom I have been separated these three weeks of the trial."

Byrd Will Not Quit.

Attorney Floyd Byrd said:

"I have not much to say regarding the outcome of the trial. It was a great surprise, and I think the action of the jury marks this as a dark day

MURDERED AND THROWN INTO DRAIN

WOMAN'S SKULL CRUSHED AND BODY BRUISED.

SUSPECT ARRESTED WITH BLOOD ON HIS CLOTHES.

Whitesburg, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—One of the most outrageous and inhuman deeds that was ever perpetrated in Letcher county came to light on Pert Creek, a settlement two miles above here, this morning, and the whole of the county is excited over the crime.

Since the death of her husband, Art Flanery, last spring, Ellen Flanery, thirty years old, has been living alone with her four small children on Pert creek. Yesterday morning she went into the garden, a short distance away, leaving her children alone. All day and night the children awaited their mother's return. Early this morning her absence became the subject of much alarm and a search was instituted by neighbors. In a deep drain, overlooking the Flanery home, her dead body was discovered, with her skull fractured and other marks of violence upon her body.

Sheriff Crawford and deputies, who went to the scene to investigate, arrested Floyd Frazier this afternoon and amid intense excitement he was placed in the Letcher county jail here. Still fresh on Frazier's clothes were splotches of blood.

Frazier is a member of one of the best families of Letcher county, while the murdered woman is respected by all. Frazier will be given an examining trial before County Judge J. A. Craft to-morrow morning.

ASKS INJUNCTION TO PREVENT STREET FAIR

ASHLAND CITIZEN OBJECTS TO CARNIVAL PLANNED BY EAGLES.

Ashland, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—O. F. Byron, acting for M. W. Thomas, this morning filed an injunction against the Ashland Lodge of Eagles and W. H. Weider, manager of Weider Street Fair, now playing at Central City, which the Eagles had arranged to bring to this city next week, for a six days' attraction. The injunction was filed before Judge S. G. Kinner.

Mr. Thomas assailed the City Council at the mass-meeting held Tuesday night for their action in permitting the street fair to come here, and his feeling in the matter caused him to take the above action. The City Council will stand by the Eagles in their attempt to bring the fair here, and a bitter municipal fight is expected.

USES SHOTGUN TO AMUSE BABY BROTHER

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD BOY SHOOTS CHILD'S HEAD OFF.

Ashland, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—Robert, the eight-year-old son of Sherman Van Horn, of near Louisa, while trying to amuse his baby sister this morning by showing her a loaded shotgun, blew the child's head off, scattering the brains all over the floor and one side of the room.

The boy had been left to take care of the baby while the mother did some work in the garden. Finding a shotgun standing behind the kitchen door, where it had been left by the father, who had been shooting crows, he pulled the hammer back and pointed the gun at the baby. The little one laughed at the boy's antics. Not knowing the gun was loaded, he pulled the trigger. The mother was prostrated by the shock and fears are entertained for her life.

MRS. M'KINLEY NEAR DEATH

In Comatose Condition After Apoplectic Stroke.

Physicians Say There Is No Hope For Recovery.

Surgeon General Rixey Summoned From Washington.

MANY MESSAGES OF INQUIRY.

Canton, O., May 23.—After a consultation this afternon at the McKinley home by O. E. Portmann, the family physician of Mrs. William McKinley and Dr. J. E. Eyeman, Superintendent of the Massillon State Hospital, a physician of wide reputation, a statement was issued that there are no indications that Mrs. McKinley could long survive the attack of apoplexy from which she is suffering. The doctors say, however, that they think dissolution will not come for a day or two. Mrs. McKinley is in a comatose condition to-night and it is stated that there are no grounds for hope of a better turn. It is announced to-night that Surgeon General Rixey by special train will reach here at 6:20 to-morrow morning.

Dr. Portmann, after his visit to the McKinley home at 12 o'clock to-night announced that he found a slight change for the better in Mrs. McKinley's condition. She was then in a semi-conscious state. When spoken to she opened her eyes slightly.

* * *

No Hope For Recovery.

Dr. Portmann, however, said that the change was not such as would lead him to expect any great improvement, neither did he think that a fatal turn could be expected before morning. So confident did he feel on this point that he said at 11 o'clock that he did not expect to remain at the McKinley home during the night or to make any other calls unless requested to do so.

He regarded her condition as satisfactory as could be expected under the circumstances, but at the same time could predict only a survival of a few days at most, judging from the present state of the patient.

Mrs. Barber, sister of Mrs. McKinley, is spending the night at the McKinley home.

* * *

Messages of Inquiry.

Telegrams from all parts of the country have been pouring into Canton today and to-night anxiously inquiring as to Mrs. McKinley's condition and evincing widespread sorrow over the announcement of her critical illness.

Mrs. McKinley has been ill nearly all winter, having suffered a severe attack of grip some weeks ago, followed later by bronchitis. The physicians say that in her weakened condition she was an easy victim to the disease with which she was stricken to-day. She is nearing the sixtieth anniversary of her birth and has long been in feeble health.

Mrs. McKinley gave up knitting recently and this was taken as an indication that her hold upon life was slight, as ever since the tragic death of her husband she has found solace in knitting slippers for friends and invalids.

Of late Mrs. McKinley has been obliged to keep close within doors, but before that she was in the habit of taking daily walks and of riding to the cemetery with flowers to place upon the casket that contains the body of her late husband.

Tuesday she was stricken with a slight attack of apoplexy and her left arm became paralyzed. Later she lapsed into a comatose state, and this afternoon she became unconscious.

Cortelyou Leaves For Canton.

New York, May 23.—Secretary George B. Cortelyou left for Canton to-night upon learning the critical illness in that city of Mrs. McKinley.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR REFUSING HER DIPLOMA.

Young Woman Files Suit Against School At Lexington For $12,000.

Lexington, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—Miss Sadie McGinnis, of Danville, through her father, J. W. McGinnis, filed suit to-day in the Circuit Court here for $12,000 damages against Campbell-Hagerman College, of this city, on account of the failure of the college to give her a diploma last June when she was a member of the class which was graduated.

The petition alleges that Miss McGinnis was not only publicly humiliated by the diploma being refused her, but that she has been injured in earning a livelihood by the failure to receive it. It is understood that the college refused to grant a diploma to Miss McGinnis because she had gone out and spent the evening with some young friends in violation of the rules, shortly before the graduating exercises.

Attorneys Robert Harding and Emmet Puryear, of Danville, and W. P. Kimball and D. C. Hunter, of Lexington, represent the plaintiffs.

CONVENTION TO NOMINATE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

Two Seek To Go To State Senate From Barren County District—Warm Race Expected.

Marrowbone, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—The Republican committee of the Nineteenth Senatorial district pursuant to a call of its chairman met at Summer Shade and ordered a delegate convention to be held at Glasgow Tuesday, June 18, for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate to represent this district in the next State Senate. But two candidates will be before the convention—Hon. J. H. Newman, of Tompkinsville, and Dr. P. W. Bushong, of Summer Shade. The chances of the two candidates appear about even at this time, and it will be a fight to the finish.

The Hon. Fillmore Denham, of Monroe county, is the Democratic nominee, and whosoever wins the Republican nomination will have a fight on his hands if he intends defeating Denham.

GOVERNOR HAS FEW LOUISVILLE CALLERS

NO RUSH YET BY THOSE WHO WANT POSITIONS.

CHAPMAN JOYES MIGHT LIKE TO BE CITY JUDGE.

FOUR VISITORS DURING DAY.

Frankfort, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—That the Democratic politicians of Louisville and Jefferson county have not yet recovered from the effect upon them of yesterday's decision by the Court of Appeals is evidenced here by the few of their number who have put in an appearance at the State Executive Department.

Possibly they are remaining away until the final decision is announced as to whether former Mayor Grainger and other old officials will lay claim to the offices to be vacated by the members of the present administration.

A Louisville paper to-day told of a visit paid to the Governor by a delegation of Louisville ministers of the gospel. They have not yet arrived here and are not expected at the department, at least no information has come of such a visit.

The only Louisville callers at the Executive Department to-day were Dr. Ellis Duncan, Chapman Joyes, Maj. D. W. Sanders and Percy Moore.

It was said that the two last named called on other business, though Maj. Sanders would like to see Harry Brenan appointed Mayor of Louisville. Mr. Joyes, it is said, would like to be City Judge of Louisville. What Dr. Duncan would like to have, if anything, for himself, was not disclosed. He was with the Governor less than ten minutes. Mr. Joyes' call was just as brief, giving the impression that the Governor is declining, just at this time, to hear any extended applications or recommendations for offices to be filled.

FUMES KILL FIVE.

AMMONIA PIPE EXPLODES IN ARMOUR CHICAGO PLANT.

Twenty Victims, But Fifteen Are Dragged Out By Their Companions.

Chicago, May 23.—Five workmen were killed and a dozen others seriously injured this afternoon when an ammonia pipe exploded in the beef-killing department of Armour & Company's plant at the stockyards. The building was full of workmen at the time and the deadly fumes, escaping from under high pressure, penetrated through every department in such a short time that twenty men were overcome before they could make their escape to the fresh air. All but five of these men were dragged from the place by their companions in a serious condition and taken to a nearby hospital.

An ineffectual effort to search for dead in the interior of the building was made by employes wearing safety masks, but they were driven back by the fumes, and it was not until six hours after the explosion that the first body, that of a man, burned beyond recognition, was taken from the fourth floor. A few minutes later four other bodies were found, all of them having been burned in a horrible manner.

A search of the plant is still being made for more bodies, as all of the men have not as yet been definitely accounted for. All the dead and injured were foreigners.

COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE CARNES

Denies Writ of Mandamus Against Him.

Right To Transfer Cases To Elliott Affirmed.

Trial of Hargis At Sandy Hook Will Proceed.

POINTS IN QUESTION SETTLED.

Frankfort, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—The writ of mandamus prayed for in the name of the Commonwealth by Attorney General Hays and Commonwealth's Attorney Adams, of the Twenty-third judicial district, to require Special Judge William Carnes, of the Breathitt Circuit Court, to enter an order granting an appeal from his order transferring the Hargis murder cases, for the Cox assassination, to Elliott county on change of venue, was denied by the Court of Appeals at today's session. The cases will now be called for trial at a term of court to begin at Sandy Hook on Monday of next week.

In refusing the writ of mandamus against Special Judge Carnes the court here certified to the parties concerned an opinion as the law applicable to the questions with respect to which the Commonwealth desired an appeal. The opinion, which is that of the full bench of the court, was written by Judge Settle.

Circuit Judge Has Power.

In the opinion the court says that it is a well-settled rule that it will not disturb the decision of the trial Judge, either in granting or refusing a change of venue, unless it was based upon some ground not authorized by the statute, or amounted to an abuse of discretion, and that the lower court's selection of the county to which a case shall be transferred cannot be interfered with by the Appellate Court unless it appears with reasonable certainty that there was error on the part of the court in its decision.

The court further says that when the Commonwealth's Attorney objected to the transfer to Elliott county he should have offered testimony in support of his objection, and by that means given the higher court here the evidence upon which the Special Judge acted. The court further says that it may be true that Judge Carnes ought to have removed the cases to some county more convenient and accessible, and to which no valid objection could be offered, but, in the absence of evidence to prove an abuse of discretion, the court cannot say that he erred in so transferring the cases. On the point of the right of the Commonwealth's Attorney to withdraw his petition for change of venue after having filed it in open court, it is held that, having filed the statement to induce the Judge to grant the change of venue, it was not proper to withdraw it to defeat the purpose for which it was filed.

* * *

Opinion of Court.

In certifying its opinion to the lower court, the court here says:

By petition in the name of the Commonwealth, on relation of the Attorney General and the Commonwealth's Attorney for the Twenty-third Judicial district, this court is asked to compel, by writ of mandamus, the defendant, William Carnes, Special Judge of the Breathitt Circuit Court, charged with the duty of presiding at the trials of James Hargis and others under indictment for the murder of D. B. Cox, to enter of record in the Breathitt Circuit Court on order (setting forth that an appeal on behalf of the Commonwealth was asked from his ruling transferring the cases to Elliott county on change of venue).

It is averred in the petition that the prosecutions against Hargis and others for the murder of D. B. Cox were illegally transferred and the venue changed from Breathitt to the Elliott Circuit Court by the defendant Carnes, over the protest and against the objection of the Commonwealth's Attorney, who, at the time, excepted to the several rulings of the court and to the orders transferring the cases, and also prayed and was granted an appeal therefrom. That the record failed to show that the appeal was prayed and granted.

"In view of the necessary delay on the part of counsel in preparing this case for hearing, and the further fact that if the writ of mandamus, applied for, were granted, it would be impossible for the Commonwealth to take the appeal intended to follow its issual in time for this court to review the order of the Special Judge changing the venue of the cases to the Elliott Circuit Court, before the beginning of the special term of that court called for their trial, we have concluded to waive all formalities and proceed to a decision of the principal question at issue, as if the case were regularly before us by appeal. We will not, therefore, discuss the evidence before us, or decide the issues of fact raised by the pleadings. The question we think it necessary to decide is, did the Special Judge err in transferring the cases against Hargis and others to Elliott county?

* * *

Should Have Been Transferred.

"It is conceded by all parties that the cases should have been removed from Breathitt county for trial, but insisted for the Commonwealth that they should not have been transferred to the Elliott Circuit court."

Section 1109 of Kentucky Statutes provides: "When a criminal or penal prosecution is pending in any Circuit Court, the Judge thereof shall, upon the application of the defendant or the Commonwealth, order the trial to be had in some other adjacent county to which there is no valid objection, if it appears that the defendant or the Commonwealth cannot have a fair trial in the county where the prosecution is pending; and if the Judge is satisfied that a fair trial cannot be had in an adjacent county, he may order the trial to be had in the most convenient county in which a trial may be had." Section 1110 directs how the defendant shall proceed in applying for a change of venue, and how the matter is to be determined by the court. Section 1111 provides: "If the application is made by the Commonwealth, a petition stating the reasons therefor and signed by the Commonwealth's Attorney shall be filed in court, and reasonable notice in writing of the time when the application will be made must be given the defendant, or, if he be absent from the county, to his attorney, and the application shall be heard and determined as provided in the next preceding section."

That is, the court shall in open court, hear all witnesses that may be produced by either party, and from the evidence determine whether or not the appellant is entitled to a change of venue. Section 1112 provides yet another ground for a change of venue. "Whenever any Judge shall be satisfied from his own knowledge and from the written statement of the Commonwealth's Attorney that such a state of lawlessness exists in any county that the ocers will be prevented from discharging their duty, or the jurors be deterred from rendering an impartial verdict, he may order the prosecution removed to some other county in which a fair trial can be had and the Fiscal Court of the county from which such re-

KENTUCKIANS ENJOY FORT BOONESBOROUGH

THE REV. DR. JONES SURPRISED AT BEAUTY OF EXPOSITION.

FINDS PROGRESS AS FAR FORWARD AS USUAL.

OTHER VISITORS REGISTER.

Jamestown Exposition, Va., May 23.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of Louisville, was an interested visitor to-day at the Exposition. He expressed great delight over the prospects for a splendid world's fair and over the excellent showing made here by Kentucky.

"I have been most agreeably surprised at every turn," said Dr. Jones. "The Exposition seems to me as nearly in readiness as has been any previous Exposition the same length of time after the opening date, and I am sure it will be a delightful sight by the time the people begin to take their vacations and flock here in great numbers. The general picture is one which has never been equaled, in my judgment. The long sweep of water front and the imposing row of beautiful State buildings is an inspiration in itself. Everything seems to have been substantially constructed, and I feel sure another month will mark the Exposition as one of the most magnificent spectacles in history."

Col. D. S. Lusher, Sheriff of Floyd county, Virginia, was a visitor at Fort Boonesborough to-day and took deep interest in a tour of the place. He claims to be a direct descendant of Daniel Boone. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wintersmith, of Louisville, are here for a brief visit. They are stopping at the Chamberlain Hotel, which is directly across Hampton Roads from the Kentucky building.

Others to register to-day at the State building were Miss Elizabeth Jefferson, Louisville; C. M. Reid, Middlesboro; S. B. Dishman, Jr., Barbourville; N. B. Edmunds and L. A. Tuggle, Hopkinsville; W. B. Montgomery, Careyville; J. T. Bowden, J. S. Helm, A. W. Mendenhall and J. A. Pack, Covington; Speare Havely, Lexington; Miss Mamie Tucker and Mrs. J. W. Oliver, Winchester; J. H. Hancock and wife, Lebanon.

PRESIDENT OF COUNTY UNION LAST VICTIM

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—F. B. McCown, president of the Christian County Union of the American Society of Equity, is the latest victim of the night riders. His large plant bed on his farm near Kirkmansville was destroyed last night. Tracks about the bed indicate that the perpetrators of the outrage were two men, one of whom rode a horse and the other a mule. There is no clew to the identity of the marauders.

A note was left warning Mr. McCown not to raise any more tobacco. This morning Mr. McCown telephoned to various places for bloodhounds, but was unable to obtain any. The motive of the men in destroying the bed is unknown. Mr. McCown is one of the best known and most popular farmers in the Kirkmansville vicinity and has organized A. S. of E. locals and unions all over this region.

Reward For Marauders.

Nashville, Tenn., May 23.—Gov. Patterson to-day offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who have scraped tobacco plant beds in Montgomery and Stewart counties.

SUSPECTED OF AN ATROCIOUS MURDER.

New York, May 23.—Henry Becker, twenty-one years old, of Manhattan, was arrested to-night on suspicion of having murdered Amelia, the fifteen-year-old daughter of William Staffeldt, a farmer of Elmhurst, L. I. Becker, according to the police, admitted having been in the neighborhood at the hour the crime was committed and having washed his hands at a pump in the nearby yard of Mrs. Emily Simonson.

Negro Murderer Hanged.

Ashburn, Ga., May 23.—Robert Henderson, alias Will Ford, colored, was hanged here to-day for the murder of G. W. May on March 5 last. He made a talk from the scaffold, warning all to take warning and avoid bad company.

FAVOR UNION BY NARROW MARGIN

Southern Presbyterians Vote For It, 96 To 94.

Historic Scene Enacted In Birmingham Meeting.

Northern Presbytery Scores Divorce Evil.

SPEAKER REFERS TO COREY.

Birmingham, Ala., May 23.—By a vote of 96 to 94 the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church to-day voted in favor of adopting the Charlotte articles of agreement. This result was reached only after one of the most heated discussions in the history of the church and a historical scene was enacted as the assembly placed the church on record as favoring closer unity with other churches holding the Presbyterian form of worship.

It is the younger men of the church who have achieved this result, the older commissioners being for the most part in opposition. The vote on the adoption of the articles was taken shortly after noon and the closeness of the final count shows how badly divided the assembly was on the question. When first announced the result was 95 for and 95 against. Albert Montoy, of Indian Territory, stated that he had voted under a misapprehension and asked leave to change his vote from "no" to "yes." John W. Faxon, of Chattanooga, explained his vote saying that it was different from that of his presbytery. He said that he could not vote to place the church of his fathers in the hands of strangers, even though his presbytery wished it. He, therefore, voted "no."

Effect of Action Taken.

By the adoption of the Charlotte articles the Southern Presbyterian Church agrees to enter a general council of reformed churches. The council will be made up of representatives of all the churches holding the Presbyterian system and can make recommendations to the General Assemblies by which it was created, but will have no legislative power. It is the intention, however, to let the council work out a general plan for home and foreign missionary work so that the churches will work in harmony and not in conflict as has been the case in the past.

At the afternoon session arguments were heard in favor of Houston, Tex., and Louisville as the meeting place for the next General Assembly. The commissioners are already beginning to leave the city, as the disposition of the articles of agreement removes the most important subject that was before the assembly for consideration.

ADOPT DIVORCE RESOLUTIONS.

Corey Affair Commented On At the Northern Church Meeting.

Columbus, O., May 23.—The Presbyterian General Assembly to-day received and adopted the report of the special Committee on Marriage and Divorce and adopted resolutions rejoicing in favorable results already obtained, and expressing the hope of more radical reform; reaffirming deliverances of former assemblies regarding marriage and divorce; and enjoining Presbyteries "to enforce the standards of the church, to hold to a strict account all ministers under their care, and to urge all ministers to regard the comity that should refrain from giving the sanction of our church to members of another church, whose marriage is in violation of the laws of the church whose communion they have chosen."

The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee, who presented the report, referring to the recent marriage of President Corey of the United States Steel Corporation, said:

"What we had about Mr. Corey cleared the way. The condemnation of public opinion was enough in itself to make us rejoice; and surely if the editorials of our newspapers and the approval of public opinion are rising to a high standard, it is time for us that we take the lead in this, as in everything, and give an example of the church cleansing itself from lax divorce and sinful marriages."

The report of the Board of Church Erection was also received and adopted.

Although it was rumored that an attempt would be made to bring about a reconsideration of the action of the assembly on the temperance question, especially with reference to the resolution commending the American Anti-Saloon League as a "safe, sane and effective organization," no step was taken in this direction. It is not improbable, however, the controversy may be renewed to-morrow, when the report of the permanent Committee on Temperance is presented.

Southern Church's Complaint.

With reference to a complaint from the Southern Presbyterians that missionaries of the Presbyterian Assembly were interferring with the missionaries of the Southern churches in work in Indian Territory, the Committee on Home Missions reported that the testimony in the complaint was so conflicting that no action was advisable, but admonished the missionaries of the Presbyterian Church to so conduct their work as to avoid any conflicts in the future. The report of the committee was accepted.

The Rev. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburg, presented the report of the Committee on Theological Seminaries. Dr. Alexander urged the necessity of maintaining a high standard in educating men for the ministry. Resolutions were adopted urging that strict enforcement be given the rule regarding the necessity of a college diploma as a condition of admission to the seminaries, that an entrance requirement in the English Bible shall be demanded of all students and that Presbyteries protect the church seminaries from unworthy candidates for the ministry.

IMPOSING SCENE

When Sunday-School Delegates Visited the Colloseum.

Rome, May 23.—The fifth international Sunday-school Convention ended this evening after a speech by the Rev. B. B. Taylor, of Minnesota.

Over a thousand delegates to the convention visited the Colosseum in the afternoon. An imposing scene was witnessed when the visitors, standing bareheaded, offered up prayers and sang hymns

The following officers were appointed: Vice Presidents—The Rt. Rev. J. C. Hartzell, Missionary Bishop to Africa; O. Waters, of London, England; Justice J. J. Maclaren, of Toronto, Canada; C. W. Fritchlel, of Bombay. Secretaries—K. Bonner, of London, England; W. N. Hartshorn, of Boston, Mass.

The following are the American members of the Executive Committee: H. J. Heinz, of Pittsburg, Pa.; F. A. Wells, of Chicago, Ill.; B. Broughton, of Raleigh, N. C.; F. L. Bronn, of New York; D. S. Johnston, of Tacoma, Wash., and J. W. Foster, of Washington, D. C. No decision was arrived at regarding the place where the next convention is to be held, but it was regarded as likely that it would be in Tokio in 1910.

LOUISVILLE MEN HONORED.

Thomas D. Osborne, Recording Secretary of Baptist Body.

Norfolk, Va., May 23.—The Baptist convention of North America, composed of the Baptist conventions, North and South, and delegates representing the negro Baptist national convention, with Mexican and Canadian Baptists also in attendance, adjourned sine die this afternoon. The convention is declared to have been one of great success. Notable were the speeches of the four leading negro delegates in attendance, which received the plaudits of Southern delegates in particular. It was the first time in the history of the South that white Baptists had met with negro churchmen, but there was not the least ill feeling and the convention was one of brotherly love and good fellowship. Officers were elected as follows: President, A. H. Strong, of New York, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary; first vice president, J. Taylor Allison, Lieutenant Governor of Virginia; second vice president, Charles E. Hughes, Governor of New York; third vice president, A. L. Crimmon, Canada; recording secretary, Thomas D. Osborne, Kentucky; corresponding secretary, S. D. Messer, Michigan; treasurer, E. M. Thresher, Ohio.

The Executive Committee includes the following members: The Rev. J. N. Prestridge, Kentucky; Rev. T. T. Eaton, Kentucky; J. B. Gambrill, Texas; W. W. Landrum, Georgia; Dr. E. Y. Mullins, Kentucky; R. H. Pitt, Virginia, and E. C. Morris, Arkansas.

The address of Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, on "The Contribution of the Baptists to American Civilization" was the feature of today's session of the general convention.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI.

Washington, May 23.—The President, it said at the White House, will not make more than three stops on his way down the Mississippi river after he leaves Canton on the 30th of September. The three stops will be at St. Louis, Cairo, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn. He will embark at some point in Iowa. The trip is to be made with the Inland Waterways Commission and the members of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways Association. From Memphis he is to come direct to Washington without stopping anywhere en route.

JUSTICE GAYNOR SPEAKS TO KNIFE AND FORK CLUB.

Kansas City, May 23.—Judge W. J. Gaynor, of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York, addressed the Knife and Fork Club this evening here at its monthly dinner. Judge Gaynor spoke on freight rate abuses and said that while actual payment of rebates is now seldom done, favoritism is still practiced in many ways. He did not favor Government ownership, but said that because of this favoritism it was no wonder a growing number of people wanted the Government to take over the railroads.

MADE IMPASSIONED SPEECH TO JURORS

BELL TOLD THEM HE WAS NO HARRY K. THAW.

DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDER OF DR. TOWNSEND.

RECEIVES VERDICT STOLIDLY.

New York, May 23.—"I am no Harry K. Thaw, but plain John Bell. I have no wealth—but if I had I could produce witnesses whose testimony would acquit me."

With these words a Brooklyn trolley car conductor closed an impassioned address to the jury that three hours later was to find him guilty of murder in the first degree.

Bell, a young man of mediocre attainments, was happily married a few years ago. A year after the wedding his wife died in childbirth. Dr. Charles Wilmot Townsend, a prominent physician of Staten Island, had attended her. On the humble stone that marked her grave Bell caused to be chiseled: "Revenge renews our happy love in heaven." He was inconsolable and for months brooded over his affliction. To his friends he expressed the conviction that his wife had not received the proper medical care.

On the night of January 24 last Dr. Townsend was shot to death in his bed. He had been awakened by the intruder and exclaimed: "If you are here to rob take what you can find, but do not harm my family or me."

The supposed burglar replied: "I want none of your things; I want you," and fired. Mrs. Townsend, who occupied the bed with her husband, was the only witness of the murder.

Letters subsequently written by Bell caused his arrest, and in court his own family, with the exception of his father, who was excused, appeared against him. A half brother testified that Bell confessed to having killed the physician for revenge.

Bell was the only witness for the defense, and the trial, held at Richmond, was not prolonged. This afternoon the case was given to the jury and to-night a verdict of murder in the first degree was returned. Judge Abbott denied a motion for a new trial and forthwith sentenced the prisoner to be electrocuted on the first Monday in July next. Bell received the verdict and sentence stolidly and remained cool when his step-mother and his sister fainted.

Bell denied the confession attributed to him by his half-brother; said he secured a weapon because he had contemplated suicide, and explained the tomb inscription that had been used against him by declaring that vandals had stolen the flowers which he had daily placed upon his wife's grave and that when the headstone was erected he resolved to punish the thieves. He claimed to have spent the night of the murder in the Bowery.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT B'NAI BRITH LODGE

ABOUT 250 EXPECTED IN LOUISVILLE BEGINNING SUNDAY.

MUCH BUSINESS AND PLEASURE PLANNED FOR VISITORS.

NOTABLES FROM A DISTANCE.

It is expected that at least 250 people, including delegates and their wives, will attend the fifty-fifth annual convention of District Grand Lodge No. 2 of the Order of B'nai Brith, which will open at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the Standard Club on Fifth street, and continue until Tuesday noon. It is several years since a district convention of the order has been held in Louisville and great interest attaches to it by reason of many matters important to the organization which will be discussed and considered.

The order of B'nai Brith was organized to further all Jewish purposes, notably to give assistance and to find employment for immigrants of Jewish birth. It is an international organization, and in America there are three grand lodges or councils. The Second district grand lodge embraces the States of Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Colorado and Missouri. The officers of the district are: Milton Anfenger, of Denver, president; A. Lewenthal, of Cleveland, first vice president; Norton Goldsmith, of Louisville, second vice president, and Victor Abraham, of Cincinnati, secretary.

New officers for the year will be elected on the third day of the convention. Usually the offices are filled in succession and a contest generally characterizes the selection of the second vice president.

Among the charities which are sponsored by the American Order of B'nai Brith are the Denver Hospital for Consumptives, which is a nonsectarian institution; the Cleveland Orphan Asylum, for Jewish children, which is the largest institution of its kind in the world; the Home for the Aged and Infirm, at Cleveland, and an Educational League, the purpose of which is to educate all Jewish young men and women who show an aptitude for the arts and sciences.

Following the opening of the convention on Sunday morning, organization will be effected by electing a chairman and secretary. Annual reports of the officers will then be submitted. At 5 o'clock there will be special services at Temple Adath Israel, which the delegates will attend in a body. At 9 o'clock the women guests of the convention will be taken about the city in carriages to the principal points of interest.

On Monday at noon a breakfast will be given for the women of the party at The Seelbach, and at 7:30 p. m. the annual banquet and ball of the grand lodge will be held at the hotel. At the banquet the officers of the organization will respond to various toasts. The guests of honor of the evening will be Adolph Kraus, of Chicago, the president of the Constitutional Grand Lodge and the head of the order in America. Mr. Kraus will deliver an address at the banquet.

The election of officers will take place Tuesday morning, at which time all other unfinished business will be considered and acted upon.

INSPECTOR SWAN INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.

In a runaway at Twenty-sixth and Magazine streets yesterday, Harry R. Swan, inspector for the Louisville Gas Company, was thrown from his buggy and injured. The truck from hook and ladder company No. 4 struck Mr. Swan's buggy and frightened the horse which he was driving. The horse ran, collided with a telephone pole and Swan was thrown to the ground, dislocating his left shoulder. He was removed to his home, 1022 Floyd street and a physician was called. His injuries are not serious.

The ladder truck was on the way to the Wathen distillery, Twenty-sixth and Maple streets, where an alarm had been turned in.

Britton Not Released.

Before leaving the courthouse and as soon as the first rush of congratulations had subsided after his acquittal, Judge Hargis and his brother, Alex Hargis, signed the bond of $7,500 of Bill Britton for the murder of Cockrill. The bond was accepted, but as it was known that there was already in the hands of Jailer Ahern a custody warrant for Britton from Sandy Hook for the murder of Dr. Cox, no attempt will be made to release Britton, who will be taken to Sandy Hook next Saturday, where the Hargises intimate they may secure the $10,000 bond required of Britton in the Cox case next Monday. Britton has been in jail here nearly three years.

Britton said: "I am not surprised at the result of the trial of Judge Hargis. I feel that throughout these trials I have been worse treated than anyone else. I have stayed here in jail for thirty-two months unjustly, and when my trials have come up I have always been lied against without reason. I have gotten over my prejudice against the witnesses who do these things, for I know that they will get their just reward hereafter and that they never will while here. During my first trial Riley Coldiron, Charles Greene and Charles Robins testified that they saw me shoot at Cockrill.

"Their testimony almost convicted me. They were not used at the last trial, and only four jurymen voted against me. I will be taken to Sandy Hook Saturday night on an indictment in the same case to come up Monday against me for killing Dr. Cox. I understand that the case will be postponed."

Costs State $2,081.48.

The Hargis trial, which was finished to-day, cost the State in witness fees and jurors $2,081.48. There were about thirty witnesses summoned by the Commonwealth, which paid out for them $720.24. The twelve jurors who tried the case were paid $276 and their board during the trial cost the State $250. Three hundred veniremen were summoned from Scott county, from which the jury was chosen, and the total outlay for the jury was $1,361.24. This, with the payment of $720.24 for witnesses, made a total of $2,081.48.

Attorneys Byrd and Jouett were paid by the relatives of Cockrill, but the salary of the Commonwealth's Attorney and presiding Judges, the services of the Sheriff and deputies and other costs of conducting the trial for two weeks should be added to the expenses of the Commonwealth. The cost to the Hargises is estimated to have been at least $6,000. Their expenses for witnesses were probably over $1,000, and as they employed Judge Jere Morton, George Webb, George Hunt and E. P. Farrell, the most prominent criminal lawyers of Lexington, and O. H. Pollard, of Jackson, was in constant attendance also, their lawyers' fees alone, it is believed, were fully $5,000. Judge Hargis' personal expenses, and those of the retainers who were always about him must have aggregated within $1,000, which would bring the direct cost to the feudal chief for his acquittal in this trial alone up to about $7,000. The total cost to State and defendant is estimated at over $10,000.

AMUSING INCIDENT AT BROWNSVILLE HEARING.

Senator Foraker Has a Little Fun During Mayor Combes' Testimony.

Washington, May 23.—Mayor Frederick J. Combe, of Brownsville, to-day was the only witness before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs in the investigation of the shooting affray there on August 13 last, which resulted in the discharge of negro soldiers garrisoned at Fort Brown. After telling of incidents connected with the shooting affray and subsequent events in which he figured, the Mayor was cross-examined by Senator Foraker at great length. The Senator was particularly interested in a report that citizens of Brownsville had raised $10,000 to be offered as a reward for information leading to the discovery of the persons who did the shooting.

"There was no truth in that report," said Mayor Combe. "It was started by an Ohio man."

Senator Foraker joined in the laughter which greeted the remark, and asked the name of the man.

"I think it was Longworth, Senator," replied the witness.

"His first name does not happen to be Nicholas, does it?" inquired Senator Foraker.

"I don't remember," said the Mayor.

"Well, of course, you don't mean the President's son-in-law?" asked the Senator.

The Mayor hastened to assure the committee that it was not the Ohio Congressman, and after the laughter had subsided the conversation was expunged from the record.

FIRE LADDIES CALLED TO PUT OUT BURNING TREE.

A burning tree caused a run to Twenty-sixth street and Garland avenue by hook and ladder company No. 4 last night. Two days ago children of the neighborhood started a fire at the foot of the tree, which is hollow, and danced about it, having great sport. The fire which the children started went out, but last night the tree itself commenced burning. Up about fifteen feet smoke and finally a small flame started. After a while limbs and bark commenced to fall to the sidewalk and the fire department was called. Part of the tree was pulled down by the laddermen and the stump was left to burn.

Motion For Change Made.

It appears from the record before us that the special Judge himself suggested that such a state of lawlessness existed in Breathitt county as would authorize a change of venue under the provisions of Section 1112, Kentucky Statutes; but that he doubted whether he had the power to make the transfer without the written statement from the Commonwealth's Attorney required by the section and also Section 1111; whereupon the Commonwealth's Attorney prepared and filed the necessary petition and statement asking the change of venue, which the court granted. The question then arose between the court and counsel as to the county to which the cases should be sent. At that juncture counsel representing the Commonwealth and the defendants were asked by the court to confer and see if they could not agree upon a county to which to send the case. Counsel failed to agree, and this was reported to the special Judge, and he at once announced that he would transfer the cases to Elliott county. To this the Commonwealth's Attorney immediately and strenuously objected. Counsel for the defendants objected to the counties named by counsel for the Commonwealth, and, though not asking a change of venue, said they would make no objection to the cases being sent to Elliott county. Neither side offered any evidence in support of its contention and none was heard, and the discussion ended with an announcement from the special Judge that he would adhere to his previously expressed conclusion to transfer the cases to Elliott county, and the order to that effect was accordingly entered.

* * *

Must Be Abuse.

It is insisted for the Commonwealth this was error. This court has repeatedly held in respect to this question, and such is now the well settled rule, that it will not disturb the decision of the trial Judge, either in granting or refusing a change of venue, unless it was based upon some ground not authorized by the statute, or amounted to an abuse of discretion. What we have said as to the trial court's discretion in granting or refusing a change of venue applies with equal force to its selection of the county to which the case is to go after the necessity for the change of venue shall have been determined; that is, the lower court's selection of the county to which to transfer the case cannot be interfered with by this court "unless it is made to appear with reasonable certainty that there was error upon the part of that court in its decision of the question."

The question, therefore, of whether the venue should be changed, and, if so, the county to which the case shall be removed, must be determined by the court upon the grounds presented therefor, and all the facts and circumstances before it, and the court should hear all the witnesses that may be produced by either party. In the cases under consideration the Special Judge heard no witnesses, for none was introduced or offered by either party; and, this being true, we do not think the Commonwealth can rightfully complain of the action taken by the court. As the ground for the change of venue was the lawlessness existing in Breathitt county, and that fact was made to appear by the written statement of the Commonwealth's Attorney, and was besides personally known to the Special Judge from what had occurred at the previous term of court, he had the right to remove the case to another county without further proof as to the cause for such removal, as provided by Section 1112 Kentucky Statutes.

Should Have Had Testimony.

When the Commonwealth's Attorney objected to the transfer of the cases to Elliott county he should have offered testimony to prove the soundness of his reasons for resisting the transfer, and, by that means, given this court, in the form of a bill of exceptions, the evidence upon which the Special Judge based his action. It may be true that the Special Judge ought to have removed the cases to some more convenient and accessible county, to which no valid objection could be made, but in the absence of evidence conducing to prove an abuse of discretion, we cannot say that he erred in the action taken.

It is insisted for the Commonwealth that the Commonwealth Attorney's request, made before the order changing the venue of the cases was entered, to be permitted to withdraw the written statement for such change, should have been granted by the Special Judge. We do not think this ruling of the Special Judge was error. Having filed the statement to induce the Special Judge to grant the change of venue, it was not proper for the Commonwealth's Attorney to withdraw it to defeat the very purpose for which it was filed. Counsel will not be permitted to experiment upon the court by taking action to procure of it a ruling on a given question, and, because the decision on that question, however erroneous, is adverse to his interest or contention, attempt to render it nugatory by withdrawing the action on his part which induced it.

ROBBED WHILE SHE SMILED HER PARDON.

Mrs. L. B. Ridgeway Loses Purse Containing Money and Jewelry.

Mrs. L. B. Ridgeway, of 410 East Broadway, was robbed of her pocketbook, containing money and jewelry, at Jackson street and Broadway, yesterday at noon. She was walking up Broadway toward her home, carrying her purse in her hand. When she passed the intersection of Jackson street, a tall young fellow, wearing dark clothing and a brown slouch hat, jostled against her. With a ceremonious bow he turned and made his most humble apologies for his awkwardness and rudeness. Mrs. Ridgeway began to smile affably, but her beaming countenance soon wore a look of surprise and anger. The young rascal had snatched her pocketbook and run in the street, in the midst of her gracious smile of pardon.

Mrs. Ridgeway at first was too amazed to cry out for help, and by the time she told two "bluecoats," who noticed her discomfiture, of her trouble, the purse-snatcher had gained a good lead. The patrolmen, however, started in pursuit, but the "snatcher" succeeded in eluding capture. The purse contained $6 in money, a door key, a gold watch, with the initials "L. B. C." on the back case, and a gold chain.

BOND ALLOWED WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Nashville, Tenn., May 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sadie Vestal appeared before Judge Gardenhire at Cookeville this afternoon and gave bond in $10,000 to answer the charge of murder, with W. S. Bryant, of her husband. The bond was signed by Nashville men. An agreement was reached this afternoon by which W. S. Bryant's case was set for hearing next Tuesday.

Bryant's attorneys filed a plea in abatement alleging that the indictment returned yesterday was not valid for the reason that employed counsel for the prosecution had been allowed to appear before the grand jury. Judge Gardenhire held the plea not well taken. Mrs. Vestal's attorneys will bring in a similar plea next Tuesday.

Impress THIS On Your Mind

There are just two kinds of Corn Flakes. One is the genuine—the other 14 are mere upshots—worthless imitations, placed on the market in less than a year.

The intention of the imitator is to confuse you, by copying the name and package of the original. It is their business to profit by the wonderful demand for "Corn Flakes" which was created by the delicious flavor of the

GENUINE TOASTED CORN FLAKES

But just remember: It took ten years to perfect this flavor. It is the product of the world's greatest food experts. The process of preparing is known only to the makers. And it cannot be copied.

That is why we want to impress upon your mind the importance of the signature of W. K. Kellogg. It appears only on the package of the genuine. Look for it when you buy. It is your absolute guide in getting the right Corn Flakes—the only one with a real flavor.

INSTRUCTIONS

Issued To Inspectors Under Food and Drugs Act.

PRELIMINARY OUTLINE OF HOW THEY ARE TO WORK.

NO WORD FROM BONAPARTE AS TO WHISKY LABELING.

DECISION LIKELY TO STAND.

Washington, May 23.—[Special.]—Attorney General Bonaparte has as yet made no announcement relative to the arguments held before him last week on the question of a modification of his recent ruling on the labeling of whiskies under the Food and Drugs Act, and it is still assumed here that his original decision will stand.

In the meantime the Department of Agriculture has commenced the work of formulating preliminary instructions to its prospective inspectors, a circular on that subject having been issued today. The inspectors of the Bureau of Chemistry are to visit establishments in which the products are manufactured, stored or sold, and report to the department regarding conditions of manufacture, taking samples wherever it is desired, and paying the regular price for them.

Will Be Given Hearing.

In case the report of the inspector or the examination of the sample taken by him discloses a violation of the law no action will be taken until the dealer or manufacturer has been notified and afforded a hearing before the Board of Food and Drug Inspection. If the results of the inspection and examination indicate the law has not been violated, or if it is believed by the department that prosecution is unwarranted because of irregularity of the sample or for any other reason, the dealer will be notified that no further action will be taken with reference to that sample.

No information will be given in any case by an inspector or branch of the laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry regarding the report of an inspection of a factory or the result of an analysis. No statement will be made by him at any time. No certificate of analysis will be given and no report other than the notice of a violation of a law.

The inspectors of the department will each carry a regular certificate of the department signed by H. W. Wiley, Fred Dunlap and George McCabe, the Board of Food and Drug Inspection. In addition the form will include a photograph of the inspector.

"Uncle Joe's" Trip Home.

Speaker Cannon was born in Guilford Courthouse, N. C., seventy-one years ago last week and he left to-night for the Tar Heel State, where for a few days he will renew old acquaintances. They must be old, as the Speaker puts it, for he lived there for but three or four years and he has great doubts whether he will see any of his baby playmates. Since he has been in Washington, however, the Speaker has received a number of delegations from his native State, one of which last winter invited him to attend the commencement exercises at Guilford this month, which the Speaker promised to do.

The Speaker says his trip has no political significance, though the politicians are naturally talking of North Carolina delegates. The Speaker visited the White House to-day and said he was simply going to Guilford to recite a piece and from there he would return to Danville, Ill., his home, to remain until Congress convenes unless something unforeseen turns up in the East.

Several of the Eastern papers this morning printed a rather surprising interview with Senator Hopkins, of Illinois, which the Senator was quoted as saying that the Speaker would make tariff revision one of the planks in his presidential candidacy platform and would urge revision at a special session in 1908. When the interview was called to the attention of Mr. Cannon he disposed of it by saying:

"Oh, I guess he didn't say it.'

Health On the Isthmus.

Col. Gorgas, who is in charge of the sanitary work on the canal, reports that the health conditons on the isthmus are thoroughly satisfactory and that yellow fever has been entirely stamped out. The sick list, he says, schows a marked decrease.

"We have filled in the wells, taken away all the cisterns and have also abolished the water barrels, all of which used to be favorable breeding spots for the yellow fever mosquito."

The sanitary chief says the Spaniards and Italians working on the canal as pick and shovel men are much better workmen than the negroes. About 37,000 men are now employed on the canal, two-thirds of them being negroes.

Invite Gen. Stephen D. Lee.

Gen. Stephen D. Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans, has been invited to deliver the address at Arlington on Confederate Decoration day, June 9. Gen. Lee will be in Richmond at the Confederate reunion the last two days of the present month, and it is hoped that he will be able to come here the following week. The local Confederate veterans to-day held a meeting and organized for the purpose of acquiring a building to be used as a Confederate hall. The veterans have a number of valuable historical picturess, letters and relics which they desire to place in a permanent hall.

PREMIER'S WARNING.

TELLS HOUSE THERE IS DANGEROUS AGITATION.

Russian Government Will Not Permit the Forcible Expropriation of Land.

St. Petersburg, May 23.—Premier Stolypin caused a sensation in the lower house of Parliament by unexpectedly announcing that a serious conflict existed between the house and the Government through the Agrarian Committee of the house proceeding to solve the whole agrarian problem without consulting any representative of the Government. The Premier made his statement by announcing that forcible expropriation of land could not be permitted and warned the house that the speeches exciting the peasants were beginning to cause a dangerous agitation in the provinces which the Government was determined to restrain. M. Stolypin asserted that to plunder the 13,000 landowners would be like nursing an invalid back to health by nourishment drawn from his own body. The whole State must assist in solving the agrarian problem.

The Premier then announced the Government's willingness to assist the peasants to purchase land and help them on a broad scale in paying off the mortgage interest but he declared that the forcible expropriation of land could not be permitted, except in the case of the exercise of the right of eminent domain in building roads for irrigation works, etc. In conclusion the Premier said:

"The Radicals long for a mighty upheaval. We yearn to build up a mighty Russia."

When the Premier finished speaking the house adjourned.

ELECT DELEGATES TO LOUISVILLE GATHERING.

Washington, May 23.—[Special.]—At the meeting of the Master Plumbers' Association to-day the following were elected delegates to attend the convention of the National Association in Louisville, June 25: E. J. Hannan, W. D. Nolan, P. C. Schafer, William Koch, C. E. Barrick, S. S. Shedd, Saul Artz, D. S. Williamson and D. J. Murphy.

MAY END WAR.

Independent Phone Men To Consider Proposition.

BIG GATHERING TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO NEXT MONTH.

THOUSAND DELEGATES EXPECTED TO ATTEND IT.

OTHER BUSINESS WORLD NEWS

Chicago, May 23.—Details of a plan to bring lasting peace into the relations of two great warring elements in the telephone business of the United States and Canada, are to be revealed in Chicago ten days hence, when the annual convention of the International Independent Telephone Association will begin at the Auditorium Hotel. Three entire floors of the big hotel have been reserved for the 1,000 delegates to attend the convention, and the manufacturers of telephone apparatus who plan electrical displays for Chicago's visitors. The convention may commit the country's $350,000,000 independent telephone interests to a programme of reciprocity with the Bell interests which they have fought for years.

The method by which competition fatal to dividends is to be done away with, is known among independent managers as the "Indiana idea." It is the latest development from the struggle for supremacy in that State, where the independents have nearly 200,000 telephones in operation. The Bell interests have proposed to withdraw from all competitive towns in Indiana except two, provided the independent companies will take the Bell lines into their switchboards and deliver to the Bell companies such toll business as cannot be sent over independent lines.

Telephone men expect that if the Indiana independents will agree to the compromise offer of the Bell interests, the latter will follow the agreement by a proposition to Ohio independents similar to that in Indiana. The result promises to be better service for hundreds of thousands of telephone users all over the country, and more profits for the hitherto warring interests.

Although the independent companies will discuss a business arrangement designed to restrict competition to some extent, there will be no general cessation of effort to extend the independent lines. Telephone development of the country, the Independents contend, depends largely upon competition. As proof of this they point to Kansas City, a competitive town, which has 22,000 more telephones than Washington, a non-competitive city with 70,000 more population. Like argument is presented by the figures from Minneapolis and Cleveland, which, combined, have 712,000 population, but support more telephones than Boston, a non-competitive city with 1,307,000 population.

The telephone convention, to continue three days, will be called to order on June 4 by President James B. Hoge, of Cleveland. Representatives of thirty State organizations of independents, having a total of 7,000 companies of their membership lists, will be present.

BANKING REFORMS NEEDED.

Treasurer Treat Praises the National Banking System.

Kansas City, May 23.—Charles H. Treat, treasurer of the United States, to-day addressed the Missouri Bankers' Association, meeting here in annual convention, on "Some Comments on the Aldrich Law." Mr. Treat said the law was of much benefit, but that banking reforms still remain to be made. He believed our national bank system meets the needs of the country as a whole better than any other system in existence and he favored a modification of it rather than an attempt to introduce any revolutionary scheme such as credit currency.

City Attorney Makes Statement Regarding Assertions of Alderman Barnes At Council Meeting.

Judge A. E. Richards, City Attorney, yesterday gave out the following statement in regard to the allegation made at the Board of Aldermen Tuesday night by Alderman Barnes to the effect that the City Attorney had been discourteous to the board in connection with his opinion on the street railway franchise:

"I was very much surprised, indeed, when I saw in the newspapers that Alderman Barnes had considered me discourteous, as nothing was more foreign to my intention. On the contrary, I had labored hard and subjected myself to very considerable inconvenience to get my opinion ready for the meeting in order to comply with what I thought were the wishes of the members. I endeavored to get it ready for that meeting on May 7, and, when I found I could not do so, I addressed a written communication to the board, expressing my regret, and promising to have it finished in time for their meeting on May 21, if it was possible for me to do so. I had to go to Cincinnati to argue the telephone case the early part of the first week, and so soon as I returned I was compelled to go to Chicago, at the request of the Mayor and the Board of Public Works, to arrange the details of the contract with the Illinois Central Railroad Company for the Oak-street viaduct. This took substantially all of the first week of their adjournment. There are so many things I am obliged to do each day that I worked at night during the next week. Having succeeded in getting my material substantially all in hand I dictated the most of my opinion on Monday night. It was half past 6 in the evening of Tuesday before it was finished. I had requested Mr. O'Sullivan to come by my house and take it to the board. I handed him the original for Alderman Barnes, with the request that he should deliver it to him as soon as he arrived at the City Hall, which he did. As I was acting under a resolution of the board itself I did not consider the opinion the private property of Alderman Barnes, so also gave a copy to Mr. O'Sullivan to be delivered to the clerk of the board.

"I do not well see how Alderman Barnes could consider me discourteous under these circumstances. I feel quite sure that no other city official has ever imagined I was discourteous about anything in common with my office."

Wound Muzzles Him.

J. T. Edmundson couldn't talk when he was presented in the Police Court yesterday morning because of a wound in his left cheek, said to have been inflicted with a caseknife by Amanda Ice. Edmundson was presented on a charge of disorderly conduct, and Amanda Ice will answer to a malicious cutting charge when the cases are called again Tuesday. The two were arrested Wednesday night on Preston street, near the railroad crossing. Edmundson is under a physician's care at his home.

John Kessler Company Formed.

The John Kessler Company incorporated yesterday with a capitalization of $1,500, divided into shares of $100 each. The incorporators and their respective holdings are John Kessler, three shares; John Fontana, three shares; Eugenia Kessler, nine shares. The maximum debt is $1,000.

ARMORY ACCEPTED.

FISCAL COURT MAKES CONTRACTORS LAST PAYMENT.

Road Work Amounting To $25,000 Provided For—Will Pay For Elevator Service.

The Armory was finally accepted as completed by the Fiscal Court at its meeting yesterday and the last payment of $6,916 made to the contractors who did the work.

It was decided by the court that it would hereafter pay for the elevator service in the courthouse, which is supplied by the Jailer, custodian of the building. Under a decision delivered some time ago by the Court of Appeals, John R. Pflanz, Jailer, decided that it was no longer incumbent upon him to pay out of his fees of office for the light, heat, janitor service and elevator service in the courthouse. The same decision held that this expense was not a charge to the Fiscal Court. The matter was then put up to the official occupants themselves, and so far they have reached no conclusion on the subject.

For the present the officeholders have decided that they need no heat or light, so long as the weather is warm and the days are long, and furthermore that they can make shift to get along without janitor service until the main building of the courthouse has been repaired. In regard to elevator service the Fiscal Court adopted the opinion of the County Attorney, which was that a convenient place for holding court must be supplied, and holding court on the upper floors of the courthouse would hardly be convenient without elevators.

The court let contracts for road improvement in various parts of the county aggregating about $25,000.

TO CONSIDER PROJECT TO PAY EMPLOYES BY CHECK.

Board of Trade Committee Will Meet When Chairman F. C. Nunemacher Returns To City.

It is probable that as soon as F. C. Nunemacher returns from the East, where he is attending a meeting of the Manufacturers' Association, a meeting of the Public Policy Committee of the Board of Trade will be called to consider the proposition made by Brent Altsheler, secretary and treasurer of the Lincoln Savings Bank, that large employers of labor should pay their employes by check instead of in cash. The matter was referred to this committee by the Board of Directors at a recent meeting, but has not yet been considered.

Mr. Altsheler has prepared data to give the committee in favor of his plan, and hopes to explain what he considers its advantages more fully than in the letter he addressed to the Board of Trade. His letter has been republished, with comment, in several financial papers. Mr. Nunemacher is chairman of the committee.

"Business."

Thursday Evening, May 23.—The New York stock market was dull and irregular, closing weak with some of yesterday's gain lost.

Money on call was easy, ruling at 2 per cent. Time loans were dull and steady at 3¾c to 4¾c. Sterling exchange was easy.

The Chicago wheat market closed weak, the July delivery being from 2¼c to 2⅜c. July corn was 1½ to 1⅝c lower, and oats were off ¼c.

The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 8 to 17 points, and after an advance of 10 to 12 points and decline of like proportions ruled steady, final prices being near opening figures.

The Chicago cattle and sheep markets were steady. The hog market was weak to 5c lower.

Charleston and Panama.

Now that the work on the Panama canal has become systematized and more effective from the successful sanitation of the isthums, its beneficial effects upon various portions of the Union are being discussed, and each is looking forward with a view to such action as will best prepare it for profiting by the completion of the world's new commercial highway. New Orleans, from its favorable proximity and its geographical location as the terminus of the great natural water system of the Mississippi and its tributaries, proposes to celebrate its completion with a great World's Fair and to enter upon a progressive campaign for a large increase in its population and commerce. The same spirit is stirring Chicago, St. Louis and the various cities of the Mississippi Valley, for the improvement of the waterways between the lakes and the mouth of the great river, as arteries for the commerce which will be the outgrowth of the canal's construction.

But this marked interest in the commercial results to flow from the canal is not confined to the cities of the gulf and the Mississippi Valley. There are others equally hopeful of good local commercial results and are preparing to enter the lists in the peaceful contest. Among them is Charleston, which rightfully claims a commanding position for trade between the Middle West and both South America and the Orient. With that view her enterprising citizens are preparing for an active campaign to make known her very great advantages as a port for such trade and to establish closer and more cordial relations with the great Middle West. She is 400 miles nearer to Panama, Rio Janeiro and Buenos Ayres than New York, while her proximity to Cuba and Porto Rico gives her great advantages of trade with those islands. Already she has a valuable railroad system connecting her with the interior, while, by the way the crow flies, she is nearer to St. Louis, Kansas City and Louisville than New York is. From Chicago to Charleston the direct distance is 150 miles less than to New York, and it would require but a few very short connecting links to give a direct all-rail route between the two cities.

The Civil War, following before the recuperation of Charleston from an earthquake, had a serious effect in paralyzing the energy and progress which had characterized the city in its earlier days, but in recent years it has shown a revival of its old spirit, which gives promise of its yet realizing its early dreams. It is not generally known that Charleston was one of the earliest pioneers in steam railroad construction, having one propelled by steam in 1830, an extension of which to Kentucky was early projected.

The trade between Kentucky and the South Atlantic States long antedated railroads. It consisted chiefly of live stock driven through Cumberland and Saluda Gaps into North and South Carolina and Georgia, via Knoxville, and later this was the route by which Kentucky bagging and rope were sent for baling cotton in those States. In 1838 South Carolina sent some of her most influential men to Kentucky to urge the co-operation of the State in building a railroad as an extension of her system of which 127 miles were then in operation. In Collins' Annals of Kentucky will be found the following item: "August 27, 1838; great railroad festival at Lexington in honor of Charleston, Louisville and Cincinnati railroad. Speeches were delivered by Gen. Robert Y. Hayne, of South Carolina; Judge Reese, of Tennessee, and others; Henry Clay, John J. Crittenden, Richard M. Johnson, Charles A. Wickliffe and many other distinguished citizens present." In January following Col. C. G. Memminger, Special Commissioner of South Carolina, visited Kentucky and addressed the Legislature in behalf of a bill to charter a branch of the Southwestern Railroad Bank, but it failed by one vote. The railroad project failed also in consequence of the great financial crisis which occurred while its prospects seemed favorable.

In 1872 an effort to revive the project and make a direct line from Charleston through Kentucky to Chicago was agitated, and a large meeting was held in Chicago of delegates from the intervening States. Cyrus H. McCormick presided and an organization was formed to promote the scheme, but the financial crash of 1873 terminated its hopes. With the large mileage since constructed between the two cities it would seem a feasible project now, highly benefited both cities and the intermediate country. To Chicago not less than Charleston it would be of great commercial value. To Kentucky it would be equally so, as affording a good market for her products and especially her coal. For the lack of this fuel there is now no coaling station for ocean steamers south of Newport News, while with it Charleston would have its value as a port greatly enhanced.

The city has one of the finest harbors in the Union, being sufficiently inland to be safe from storms, and since the construction of jetties seaward, of sufficient depth for the largest vessels. Rich in its historic associations, it would be a crowning triumph over all her trials to develop also into a great commercial city. It would not only be the realization of her early dreams, but such close connection by rail with the great Middle West would result in a corresponding benefit to that region and to all the South Atlantic cities. The Courier-Journal, therefore, cordially wishes Charleston the fullest success in all her progressive aspirations.

Manufacturers and the Tariff.

It is certainly significant that the National Association of Manufacturers has declared in favor of tariff reform, not exactly immediate, for that is seen to be impossible, but "as soon as possible," which is about the same that others mean when they demand that the reform shall be made at once. All intelligent people know that some time is necessary to pass a tariff act, and when they demand immediate action they simply mean that there should be no unnecessary delay. This is no doubt what the Manufacturers' Association means when it declares for tariff reform. It wants it immediately, so far as that is practicable.

It has long been the popular impression that the protective tariff is for the benefit of manufacturers. This is not particularly strange in view of the history of tariff agitation. The very first tariff act ever passed by the United States Congress, that of July 4, 1789, began its first section as follows: "Whereas, it is necessary for the support of the Government, for the discharge of the debts of the United States, and the encouragement and protection of manufactures, that duties be levied on goods, wares and merchandise imported, be it enacted," etc. It was thus set out that the first business of a tariff was to support the Government, the second to pay its debts and the third to protect manufactures. The idea thus suggested continued in the subsequent history of the country and it is in comparatively recent times that a politician wrote that manufacturers were almost the only beneficiaries of the protective system, and so he was in favor of "frying the fat" out of them by making them contribute liberally for the corruption of voters.

Now, it is true that manufacturers have been the greatest beneficiaries of the protective system, but not all manufacturers. They have taken in certain agricultural and other interests in order to strengthen themselves, but the big prizes have gone to the manufacturers. During all the time, however, there have been many manufacturers who derived no benefit from the tariff, and many believed themselves to be seriously injured by it. As long, however, as the sufficiency of the home market was believed as an article of faith the protests from manufacturing circles were not numerous and not insistent. When invited to go out and capture the markets of the world, they treated the suggestion as the mere figment of an imagination intoxicated by free trade dreams. But domestic production so far outran domestic consumption that it became necessary to consider the question of invading foreign markets, and many found themselves seriously crippled in this endeavor by the tariff. There was the question of raw materials which had to be imported and a tariff paid on many of them. The drawback system was invoked to aid exporters, but this did not always work satisfactorily. Moreover, our own exclusive system was taken as a model by many foreign countries, and laws passed which closed many markets to some of our manufacturers. Commercial treaties framed in their interest were defeated by the efforts of others who saw in them no good for themselves and a possible injury. The happy family of domestic manufacturers, therefore, became divided, and many of them insisted that the tariff, which professed to be in their interest, did them more harm than good.

Complaints from some manufacturers were long kept down by threats of withdrawing the protection they enjoyed. When they asked for free raw materials they were told that the producers of materials were as much entitled to protection as themselves; that free raw materials meant free finished products. Many were silenced by these threats, but others came to believe that they could get along without any protection. This has been strikingly shown in recent years by the shoe manufacturers, most of whom professed themselves quite willing to have the tariff taken off shoes if they were given free hides. There are others similarly inclined who have not come so prominently before the public.

Several years ago the Association of Manufacturers took advanced steps on the subject of reciprocity, and a special convention was held to consider the subject. The standpatters, however, rallied their forces and brought such a pressure to bear that the convention did nothing in aid of reciprocity. The advocates, however, of a fairer tariff were silenced rather than convinced, and they have not relaxed their efforts. During the past year a poll has been taken of all who could be induced to respond, and 55 per cent. of the 3,000 that answered declared for immediate revision of the tariff. There were only 8 per cent. that thought that the time to revise had not yet come; 17 per cent. were indifferent or noncommittal, while only 20 per cent. were pronounced standpatters. The manufacturers themselves being judges, the present tariff is not "for the encouragement and protection of manufactures."

It has often been predicted that the time would come when the United States would return to free trade, or a tariff for revenue, with the full assent and, in fact, at the instigation of the manufacturers themselves. The time for the fulfillment of this prophecy has not yet come, but who shall say that the action of the Association of Manufacturers does not foreshadow it? It is well known that free trade in Great Britain came upon the demand of the manufacturers. It began with the abolition of the "corn laws," or the measures for the protection of grain, by which food was made artificially dear. The manufacturers wanted free trade in order that they might be in a position more completely to capture foreign markets, which were indispensable to them. Now, foreign markets are more and more needed every year by our manufacturers, as is shown by the fact that last year we exported $719,000,000 worth of manufactured goods—more than ever before. Certainly our manufacturers have been the bulwarks of the protective system, and when they show themselves in earnest in demanding a reform of the tariff there is every reason to believe that it will not be long deferred.

The Waters-Pierce Oil Case.

The State courts in Travis county, Texas, and the Federal Court in St. Louis have been engaged with a case which deserves to be classed among the causes celebre in litigation. It owes its celebrity in large degree to the connection in which Senator Bailey, of Texas, was made to appear, in relation to the issue it involves, as a borrower or alleged attorney. Among the allegations made by his opponents was that the Senator was in the employment of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, which was charged to be in point of fact the Standard Oil Company, and that the various sums of money which he was shown to have received from H. Clay Pierce, chairman of the board of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, were not personal loans made to him, but payments for alleged services rendered and influence exerted in behalf of the Standard Oil Company.

The charges made against Senator Bailey, which became subject of prolonged investigation by the Legislature of Texas, were not sustained by that body and he was chosen for another term by a decisive majority on joint ballot. The feeling, however, in Texas was so bitter that during Senator Bailey's canvass and before the meeting of the Legislature an indictment was found against H. Clay Pierce, November 1, 1906, by the grand jury of Travis county, Tex., for false swearing. It charged him with having made on May 31, 1900, an affidavit, required by the anti-trust laws of Texas, wherein he swore, among other things, that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, a corporation of Missouri, of which he was president, was not a party to any agreement with any other corporation to fix the price or limit the amount of supply of oil, when, as alleged, it had entered into a combination with the Standard Oil Company for that express purpose, and that the latter company held a large proportion of the stock of the Waters-Pierce Company.

In pursuance of this indictment a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. Pierce, then in St. Louis, and was served by the sheriff of Travis county, and upon being brought before the proper court, an order was issued remanding the accused to the custody of the Texas officer. Pending his surrender, however, the attorney of Mr. Pierce applied to Judge Adams, of the Federal Circuit Court, who had denied his release from the Texas sheriff, for an appeal to both the United States Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court, both of which were granted. This changed the state of the case very suddenly and unexpectedly to the Texas sheriff, who had contemplated his immediate departure with his prisoner, but greatly to the relief of Mr. Pierce, who was by no means confident that the recourse taken by his attorney would be successful.

As a result of this decision Mr. Pierce was released on bond, the amount being fixed at $20,000 on each appeal, and left St. Louis shortly afterward in his private car for the East. The case will in regular order, if there is no unexpected delay, come up in the United States Supreme Court in October and in the Circuit Court of Appeals in December. The first tribunal will pass upon the question of jurisdiction and the latter deal with the merits of the case. The Texas authorities will leave nothing undone to secure a favorable decision in the case, and Mr. Pierce being a millionaire, may be expected to put up a resolute fight. But as the docket of the Supreme Court is always crowded, it may be a long time before a final decision is obtained.

Elucidated At Last.

However much other people are puzzling their heads over the methods to be used by the Russell Sage Foundation in its new-fangled philanthropic work, there is one who appears to understand them clearly. He sits in the office of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle and writes. He has written of the Sage Foundation, and that is how it is known that he, at least, understands what other persons have been unable to comprehend. "Recently," he writes, "intelligent people have come to understand that poverty is to be reduced not chiefly by relief of needy individuals, important as that work is, but destroying the conditions which create poverty." But the promoters of the Foundation themselves have told us that much. He continues:

"Years ago those conditions used to be roughly lumped as drink and shiftlessness. Perhaps there was a time when those personal factors were the chief causes of poverty; but if so, that time was long ago. It is now recognized that many conditions in cities, which their victims are powerless to change, in any way, press large numbers of persons who would like to earn their own livings into the wholly or partly dependent classes. But just what the conditions which make for poverty and the extent to which they can be modified or wiped out are realized but imperfectly as yet. There has been a good deal of individual and amateur study of the subject, but no way has yet been open to co-ordinate this effort and to focus its attack upon those evils which can be changed.

"That is where the Sage Foundation will take up the work. It will employ trained investigators to study and report upon the housing of the poor in tenements, the relation of vice to poverty, and probably to keep an eye out for the enforcement of laws which bear most directly upon the working population, like the factory inspection law, the child labor law and the law against sweatshops. The Foundation will also collect reports of charitable organizations throughout the country and will publish such portions of them as bear directly upon the question of the causes of poverty."

This statement of the methods and purposes of the Sage Foundation ought to relieve much of the curiosity and anxiety that have prevailed heretofore. It is crystalline in its clearness, primer-like in simplicity and electric-light-like in its power to throw an enlightening and illuminating radiance on a dark subject. It puts to shame those persons so stupid as to have failed to comprehend the thing at the outset. It discloses untold possibilities for charitable work. Tons of literature will be published describing poverty. The habits, habiliments and homes of the poor will be set forth in piles and piles of pamphlets. And the publication of literature and pamphlets on the subject of poverty is the thing the poor have been starving for all these years. If some twenty or thirty years ago an abundance of printed matter had been prepared and issued poverty might not be flourishing to-day. The long-headed, profound and gifted seer of the Brooklyn contemporary deserves a public's gratitude for showing up the most ordinary simplicity of what had appeared to be a complex matter. Let the printed matter be hurried along. The poor are dying by the thousands a day for lack of it.

The Macon, Ga., Telegraph is good enough to say, apropos of some recent suggestions of the Courier-Journal as to a winning Democratic candidate for President next year:

"Some of the newspapers have been calling on Mr. Watterson to name his man, but so far he has not done so. Meanwhile it has been announced by Mr. Hearst's faithful Ihmsen that he (Hearst) will run for President as the candidate of the Independent League of his creation, independent of any action the Democratic party may take. If Henry Watterson will run, or any other Southern Democrat, the Telegraph will support him independent of Bryan, Hearst or any Northern organization calling itself by the name of Democracy, or any other name."

"Name his man" sounds too positive and carries too much the idea of the pragmatic and preferential. Mr. W. has "no man." He has merely said that he "knows of a man," answering Mr. Bryan's description, suggesting the while that, if Mr. Bryan would play Warwick, he might make a President and save the party. That is all.

Mr. Watterson has no thought of running for President, or anything else. He is an Editor, not a politician, and well content where he is—though, as to kindly words, he is like Mr. Lincoln's little boy that did like ginger-cakes better'n anybody in Illinois, "an' gits fewer of 'em."

As to Hearst! You bet he'll run. That's where he lives. That's his business.

A Washington special tells us that at the recent annual meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union of America in that city the Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, of New York, referred to President Roosevelt as the "bravest and brainiest ruler in the world." Somebody ought to tell "the Rev. R. S. MacArthur, of New York," that President Roosevelt is not a "ruler," at all.

The witness who testified at Washington that he saw the negro soldiers shoot up Brownsville evidently has no idea of tact. When an Ohioan who is trying to be President rather than right is engaged in a bloody conflict such revelations are embarrassing.

Of course the American society people who stole the buttons off of the Duke of Abruzzi's other coat and pocketed the spoons wherewith he fed them hold to the theory that every American is a sovereign and that titles are but tawdry things.

The Abes of San Francisco and New York are suffering nervous collapses the magnitude of which seems to be in reasonable proportion to the singular nerve of each during the days of his untamed prosperity.

ILL HEALTH

Causes Farmer To End His Life By Shooting.

BLOWS OFF TOP OF HEAD WITH SHOTGUN.

KILLS HIMSELF IN PUBLIC ROAD NEAR HIS HOME.

BROODING AND DESPONDENT.

Madisonville, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—Frank Cox, a prominent farmer living at Nebo, near here, committed suicide this morning in the public road near his home, shooting the top of his head off with a 12-gauge shotgun.

Mr. Cox had been in ill health for some time, and brooding over this caused him to end his life. He was one of the most successful farmers in the county and has many relatives in Madisonville.

ARMY WORMS IN BOYLE.

Make Their Appearance In Best Bluegrass Soil.

Danville, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—Great excitement exists among the farmers immediately east of this city. This section embraces the best of the Bluegrass land. Monday evening there appeared on the different farms small black worms. The pests mysteriously came in innumerable numbers, and soon fields began to look barren and a closer investigation proved that the worms were devouring every species of vegetation in their path.

A thirty-acre bluegrass field on the Yates Hudson farm which, day before yesterday, was noted for its verdure, is to-day as bare as a turnpike. Older farmers say the pests are army worms, such as infested this county many years ago. Large forces of hands are employed to ditch around the infested fields in order to save the wheat crops adjacent. As fast as the worms reach the ditches logs are dragged over them. Much loss has already been entailed.

UNAVOIDABLE ACCIDENT.

Coroner's Jury Finds C. and O. Wreck Could Not Be Prevented.

Maysville, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—Coroner Fred Dresel this afternoon held an inquest over the body of Mrs. Mary L. Halsey, who was killed in the C. and O. wreck at Lawrence creek yesterday afternoon, and after hearing a number of witnesses who were on the wrecked car, returned a verdict of death from unavoidable accident.

The body will be shipped to-morrow to Milwaukee, Wis. Her husband, Judge Lawrence Halsey, was badly injured, but will be able to accompany the remains home. Miss Madaline Lazarus, of St. Louis, who had both legs and arms broken and was otherwise injured, is still in a precarious condition, as is also George Stearn, of Cincinnati.

KILLED ON WEDDING DAY.

Trial of Will Gay's Slayers Begun At Richmond.

Richmond, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—The case of Joe Pervis, charged with killing William Gay some time ago, was called in the Circuit Court to-day and the trial entered into. Gay was en route to the home of Miss Gabbard, whom he was to wed, on the day he was killed. He met the defendant in the road, accompanied by his brother, James Pervis. A fight arose between the brothers, when Gay jumped out of his carriage to separate them and was killed. A claim was set up that the fight was a fake and that the killing was premeditated. Gay was killed in sight of his fiance's home, the young lady being an eye witness.

Wadlington and is situated in the eastern part of the county, has just been sold to C. A. Higby, a capitalist of Philadelphia. The farm contains about 500 acres and the price paid for it was $18,000. Mr. Higby will greatly improve this place and will probably make a fine stock farm of it.

The patrolmen, not knowing the condition of McCoy or at whom he was shooting, returned a shot or two before their man was finally arrested. The police say that McCoy was drunk and just having a good time.

PLAN OF ACTION

To Be Decided At Meeting of Democrats To-day.

OUSTED OFFICEHOLDERS WILL WAIT ON ATTORNEY.

NO APPOINTMENT OF POLICE JUDGE YET ANNOUNCED.

ATTORNEY FITZGERALD TIPPED

A meeting of the Democratic contestees, who were ousted from office by the decision of the Court of Appeals Wednesday, will be held at 9:15 o'clock this morning in the office of John L. Dodd, Louisville Trust building, at which steps deemed advisable will be discussed.

Mr. Dodd was chief counsel for the contestees in the contest trial, and said last night that he would have something to say when the meeting was held this morning, but would not divulge it beforehand. He admitted that the contestees were so nonplussed by the decision that it was impossible to get them together any sooner than to-day. While some of the individual officeholders who are to be ousted are in favor of fighting the matter to the very last, others are of the opinion that it would be a futile undertaking to attempt to go any further from a legal point of view.

Opinion Still Divided.

Mayor Paul C. Barth said yesterday that he was not bothering himself about the matter in the least. Among those who talked the matter over in groups yesterday the opinion was still divided as to who will succeed the ousted officers. While many held to the opinion that the Governor would appoint in certain offices, many others held to the opinion that the officers who went out of office January, 1906, would succeed the ousted officers and hold until their successors are elected and qualified. Those who make these claims assert that they are backed up by the Constitution.

Persons who maintain that the old officers should be given back the offices are of the opinion that it is the easiest way out of the dilemma. However, it is thought that this will not be done until after a bitter fight has been made against the appointive power of the Governor.

The absorbing topic yesterday was speculation as to whom Gov. Beckham would name for Police Judge to succeed the late Judge John McCann. Many attorneys about the Courthouse and City Hall are inclined to think that James J. Fitzgerald stands the best chance to be appointed to the position. While Mr. Fitzgerald has made no application for the appointment, it is understood that he would accept it if the Governor should tender it to him. It is understood that many of Mr. Fitzgerald's supporters for the appointment are close friends of the Governor and naturally will do all in their power to aid him in landing the position.

Mentioned For Police Judge.

The names of Charles F. Taylor, at present an Alderman; Maj. D. W. Sanders, James Quarles and William B. Eagles have been mentioned in connection with the appointment. Chapman C. Joyes, it seems, is the only applicant for the place who has called personally on Gov. Beckham. Mr. Joyes was in Frankfort yesterday and returned to the city last night. He admitted that he was in a way an applicant for the appointment, but said that the Governor was absolutely noncommittal in regard to the appointment. In fact, he said the Governor was not much inclined to talk about the matter. Mr. Joyes was only with the Chief Executive a few minutes.

The prevailing opinion is that Gov. Beckham will not appoint anyone Police Judge who will not pledge himself to put the "lid" on in Louisville. The whisky men themselves are strong in this opinion. A leading member of the Louisville Ministerial Association said last night that no ministers as representatives of the association had called on Gov. Beckham in regard to the appointment of a successor to Judge McCann and he did not know that such would be done. He said some ministers might go to Frankfort of their own accord, but not otherwise.

When it becomes clear, if it should, that Gov. Beckham will have the right to appoint a successor to Mayor Barth, great interest will be centered in the appointment. It is strongly tipped that if Judge James P. Gregory is not reappointed County Judge he may be placed in the Mayor's chair by the Governor.

Inelegant But True.

[Knoxville Journal and Tribune.]

When Henry Watterson, one of the few editors in these latter days who is known to as many people in the world, if not by more, than the paper of which he is the editor, tries to be emphatic he knows how to emphasize. He has a command of language that enables him to say things with the bark on, in language of his own individual construction; but upon occasion he is not above using old saws that have figured in the vocabularies of the boys since a time when memory runneth not to the contrary.

From far-away Texas and the San Angelo Press comes the following:

"Is the memory of Colonel Watterson so short that he has forgotten that love feast with Bryan in Louisville and returns from a trip abroad backing Hughes for the next President?"

If he had forgotten it he would hardly be fit "to carry guts to a bear." Nay, if he "were backing Hughes for the next President," he would consign himself to the category of those who have not sense enough to come in out of the wet when it rains. We hasten to asure our esteemed Lone Star contemporary that the editor of the Courier-Journal has done no such thing, nor anything remotely like it.

He sojourned in Europe last winter but returned to his native shores a little while ago, and perhaps for the purpose of showing that while absent from his country in the body he had remained present in soul and in sympathy, he indulged in some remarks relating to the political situation here. Among other things he ventured to say that Gov. Hughes stands a fair chance of being the next Republican nominee for President. Some of the newspapers of his own party have taken up what he said and have insisted that he is for Hughes. He has taken up one of these and deals with the vile calumny in the foregoing characteristic manner.

While Col. Watterson has treated things in a more elegant way than that, it will not be said that there is any lack of emphasis in his language. His purpose was to show that he has not gone back on Bryan and to show furthermore that he will not support Hughes. That was his purpose and a fool may run and read, also understand. There is nothing ambiguous, nothing left open for doubtful construction, and if any of those who are in the habit of misconstruing his words and attributing to him purposes foreign to his designs, do so again they will know, after reading the above extract that they are guilty of deliberate falsification of the facts.

R. D. BAKROW RETIRES AS PRESIDENT OF WHITE CITY.

C. C. Bickel Succeeds Him As Head of Amusement Resort—Labor Troubles Settled.

At a meeting of the White City Company last night, R. D. Bakrow resigned as president and C. C. Bickel was elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Bakrow was compelled to retire as the head of the company by the press of his private business interests, the death of Henry Bakrow, last week, hastening his retirement as the president of the amusement company. He remains one of the directors of the company.

The White City Company also reached an understanding with the Louisville Federation of Labor whereby the boycott is lifted. Only union labor is to be employed at the resort.

Mrs. Fannie Caldwell Macauley, of Louisville, author of the charming "The Lady of The Decoration," is being much entertained during her visit to Mrs. W. R. Lambuth, which terminates the first of next week. At 1 o'clock to-day Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Tillett entertained a small company at luncheon to meet her, when the guest list included only several of her especial friends: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Towson with whom she was closely associated during her stay in Japan; the Rev. Joseph Whiteside and Mrs. Whitesides, who after mission work in Shanghai have been spending some time in Nashville, and Mrs. W. R. Lambuth. The luncheon table had a bouquet of pink peonies in the center.

To-night Dr. W. W. Pinson and Mrs. Pinson will entertain a small party at dinner to meet Mrs. Macauley, and for each day of her stay several small hospitalities are planned. To-morrow evening she will spend with Miss Elizabeth Price, who has asked her to meet a few of the especial friends in Nashville of Miss Anna B. Brantley Smith and Ernest Chadwell, vocalists, and Dr. George Trawick, cellist.

Later tea, sandwiches and confections will be served from a table with a cluny lace cover, having in the center a vase of crimson peonies.

Too Erratic.

We all are glad when spring
Comes back again.
We love the birds that sing
In every lane.
We love the babbling rill,
The violet,
The sprightly daffodil,
Et cet., et cet.

We all are glad when spring
Returns once more.
We love the vines that cling
Around the door.
We love the morning whiff
Of ozone, but
We'd like spring better if
It would stay put.

Do 3,000 Priests Demand Wives?

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

The Tuesday Times and the Wednesday Post published for the delectation of their readers a very salacious article on the French clergy, copied from Gil Blas, a yellow Parisian newspaper. An anonymous writer in that Socialist paper, which is notoriously unfair to Catholics, has pried open a big mare's nest. He has discovered that a petition has been sent to the Pope by 3,000 Catholic priests humbly asking permission to take wives, and that 60,000 more are standing at the door anxiously awaiting the denouement.

It is an old axiom amongst liars that, when you lie, tell a good one. Now this is a good one. The whole article is absurd in itself, and has all the earmarks of a Parisian canard. The writer keeps close to his cover. He is anonymous. He does not give his own name, and, doubtless, if put to the oath, could not give the name of any one of the 3,000 immortals. But he gives extracts from the petition itself. Why not? Doubtless he wrote it all himself for a penny-a-line.

Things are all awry in France. The present French regime is infidel and rotten from skin to core. It is reeking with venality, and probably will soon be reeking again with blood. This mob in power has robbed the church of all her possessions, has banished her aged priests, has thrust her younger clergy into the army, has exiled religious women whose only crime was charity, and has now engaged in a fierce and bitter propaganda of calumnies against whatever remains of religion. Why are Gil Blas and the infidel press of France so anxious for the marriage of the French clergy? To improve the clergy? Why, the French Government is bent on their extermination. The bias behind an attempt to marry the clergy is a wish to destroy their power and prestige. Christ presented Himself as the model and bright exemplar of His ministers. His life was single, and the beau ideal of all chastity. St. Paul and the apostles modeled themselves after His example. And we learn from the early councils and the fathers that the church has from the beginning insisted on receiving as candidates for her sacred ministry those only who voluntarily promise to lead single and chaste lives. The wisdom of her course is apparent to the world. It is the bright example of a chaste clergy that proves the possibility of virtue, encourages morality and builds up Christianity.

Christ instituted the sacrament of holy orders for the purpose of strengthening the clergy with those special graces necessary for the exercise of the sacred ministry. The few who fall spurn grace, and these doubtless would have spurned grace had they been perpetually bound in lawful wedlock to one wife, or united for a time to many in a sort of American progressive polygamy. Sound Catholic clergy, whether in France or abroad, are satisfied with their condition of self-imposed chastity. Those who berate their condition are old-time enemies who seek their destruction. The world at large loses nothing from the fact that priests choose a single life. The advancement and happiness of the human race consists not so much in the number of individuals as it does in the possession of morality and the enjoyment of higher ideals of perfection.

Hence, in spite of Gil Blas and the devil, the world may depend upon it that the Catholic clergy will go right on in the old way, neither marrying nor permitting themselves to be married, following Christ closer than others, urging sad and weary Christian souls onward and upward.

M. I. BOARMAN, S. J., Catholic Priest.

BERRY SEASON

Will Be An Unusual One In Floyd.

HELFRICK DISMISSED ON PEREMPTORY INSTRUCTIONS.

SISSELL PAYS FINE WITH CHECK BOOK.

SURPRISED JUDGE PARIS.

Strawberry shipments out of New Albany to Northern cities have been small thus far. The first were made Wednesday night, the fruit going to Indianapolis, where it brought $4.50 a crate. These crates contain twenty-four boxes, alleged to hold a quart each, but in reality containing much less. Last night three crates were shipped, but John Hahn, agent of the Adams Express Company at New Albany, expects at least fifty crates for the shipment to-night. The picking Sunday will be comparatively large and within a few days the fruit will be leaving that city by the car load.

The growers expect the season to reach its height by June 10, at which time from ten to fifteen car loads will be shipped out of New Albany and the stations near that city daily for several days. Fruit commission men, who have examined into the matter, declare that the crop around New Albany will be up to the average in quantity while the quality will be much finer than in other years. The indications are that prices will be high through the season and the year promises to be more than usually remunerative to the growers.

Go To Alaska For Summer.

H. W. Rehner and Charles Milligan left New Albany last night over the Monon for St. Michaels, Alaska, to join their boat, the Hannah, owned by the Alaska Commercial Company, which is lying at the mouth of Yukon river, awaiting the opening of navigation before starting on the trip to Dawson City. They are first and second engineers, respectively, of the steamboat, which has been put in thorough repair by other employes of the company and is in readiness to start at any time. Rehner and Milligan will leave Seattle May 30 on the steamer Pennsylvania, and will arrive at St. Michaels ten days later. It is expected that the ice will run out in a few weeks and the Yukon river opened from its mouth to the source.

George Curry and David Spence, New Albany men, engineers on the steamer Louise, also owned by the Alaska Commercial Company, plying in the Yukon river trade, left that city nearly two months ago for Dawson. They crossed the mountains by the Skaguy route and arrived safely at the boat, which was ice-bound fifty miles below Dawson. Since that time they have been engaged in making necessary repairs to the machinery, and the boat is now ready when the river opens. Curry, Milligan and Rehner have been on the Yukon river for years, while this is the first trip for Spence.

To Speak For a Medal.

In the high school auditorium at New Albany to-night an oratorical contest will be held for a premium, a gold medal, which will be awarded the winner. Those having part in the contest will be: Gustave Weinmann, Clifford LaDuc, Edwin Thomas, Lee Sapinsky, John Sweeney and Daniel Walsh, Jr. In addition to the orations there will be a vocal solo by Miss Nellie Lemon and an instrumental trio, violin, cornet and piano, by Cyrus Dash, Scott Leach and Bertram Hackett, and vocal solos by Misses Marguerite Seabrook and Ruth Shrader. In the contest the subjects will be "Evangelization of the World," Clifford LaDuc; "John Quincy Adams," by John Sweeney; "Alexander Hamilton," by Edwin Thomas; "The Race Question," by Gustave Weinmann; "The Mob and the Law," by Lee Sapinsky; "The Land of Promise," by Daniel Walsh, Jr.

Dismissed On Instructions.

In the Floyd Circuit Court at New Albany yesterday the case of the State against Clifford Helfrick, charged with assaulting G. W. Schneider with intent to kill, was tried before a jury. Upon peremptory instructions that body returned a verdict of acquittal. Stotsenburg & Weathers were the attorneys for the defendant. Helfrick was in the employ of the Monon as a switchman and about two months ago he engaged in a difficulty in the company's yards, with Schneider, the roundhouse foreman. In the mixup Schneider was slashed across the face with a knife.

In the same tribunal, continuances were granted in the cases of the State against Virgil Terry, charged with shooting at Frank Streicher and against George Dugan and Shelby Porter, charged with larceny.

Dies After Several Months.

Mrs. Elizabeth Volz, widow of John Volz, died yesterday morning at the home of her son, Columbus Volz, at Galena, on the Paoli pike, eight miles north of New Albany, after an illness from a complication of diseases that extended over several months. She was seventy-five years old and is survived by two sons and a daughter—Columbus and Louis Volz, of Galena, and Mrs. A. T. Smith, 422 West Eighth street, New Albany. Funeral services will be held this afternoon in the Main-street Methodist Episcopal church, New Albany, by the pastor, the Rev. W. B. Grimes, and the burial will be in Fairview.

Paid Fine With Check.

James Sissell and John Downs, both of Kentucky, wandered into New Albany Wednesday night, became intoxicated and were picked up on the streets by Patrolman McLaughlin. They were arraigned in the City Court yesterday morning and were fined $11 each by Judge John M. Paris. The two, to all appearances, had as much as fifty cents in cash between them, but Sissell produced a check book, drew a check for $22, the amount of both fines, and promptly passed it over to the Judge. It was on a Louisville bank and the men were released when it was found that it was good for its face.

PAY MONEY

To Warn Passengers Off the Trains.

PENNSYLVANIA DOESN'T WANT PEOPLE TO TAKE CHANCES.

LIVELY BIDDING FOR FERRY COMPANY PROBABLE.

OSCAR PATRICK SUCCUMBS.

The Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company is probably the only railroad in Indiana that is compelled to pay men to keep passengers from getting on its trains, but such is the case in Jeffersonville, and grows out of the line abandoning a number of "dinkey" stations, one of them being at Sixth street and Kentucky avenue, which was the one most generally patronized by the traveling public in getting on the cars for Louisville and New Albany. When the office was first closed there was no trouble experienced because the cars went by so fast that an expert railroader could hardly get on them. The depot is on a curve and it is dangerous to run fast from either direction.

This fact led the Jeffersonville authorities to notify the officials of the road that their trains must be under control in passing the former depot. The engineers began to run so slowly that they came almost to a dead stop, which gave passengers a chance to get on or off if they desired to risk their lives. This was new trouble for the company, and it was decided to place a watchman at the abandoned station to notify people not to attempt to board the cars. Little attention is paid to the warnings, but it is believed in case of an accident the road would not be liable for damages under the circumstances. The men employed belong to the regular road police force and they draw $60 per month, making the cost of telling people not to get on the cars $4 per day.

It is claimed the station could be kept open and the trains brought to a standstill for less than is being paid the two watchmen and considerable travel could be picked up. What the road is trying to do is a puzzle even to the employes. Not the slightest attempt is being made to encourage any one to ride on the line, but, to the contrary, they are given accommodations that drive them away. Some of the employes assert that the company is preparing to abandon its "dinkey" trains, but has not yet found a way to do so and retain the franchises it holds in New Albany and Jeffersonville. The line is being operated every day at a loss since the hourly service was begun and people cannot get used to the way of running trains. It is daily the case that many who want to go from Jeffersonville to New Albany get on the train that makes connection for Louisville and there is nothing to do but to remain at the junction in Clarksville thirty minutes until the right train comes along. Under the new arrangement the road is required to carry an extra man to act as flagman a part of the day, and no one could be found who would have the job unless he could make ten hours out of it, and this is another source of increased expenses.

Two Suits For Damages.

Leroy Hazzard filed suit in the Clark Circuit Court in Jeffersonville yesterday against the Lake Erie and Western Railway Company and the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company for $20,000 damages on account of personal injuries. The complaint recites that the plaintiff was a brakeman in the service of the last named defendant, whose trains are run over the tracks of the first named defendant from Indianapolis to Kokomo in reaching Chicago. It is alleged that in the performance of his duties he slipped on an ice-covered depot platform and rolled between this and the railroad track next to it, where he lay until sixteen freight cars had passed over him, the oil boxes of all of them striking him, injuring him so badly that he has been made a cripple for life.

Albert L. Hollis, of New Albany, filed suit against the Louisville and Jeffersonville Ferry Company in the Clark Circuit Court at Jeffersonville yesterday for $2,000 damages on account of the death of Pearl May Hollis, who was his daughter and was four years old at the time of her death. It is alleged the child went to Sugar Grove, a picnic ground owned by the defendant, on a Sunday-school excursion on the steamer Sunshine, June 20, 1906, with her mother, and while she was on the grounds she was struck by a quoit and her skull was so badly crushed that she died within the next twenty-four hours. The responsibility is based on the alleged fact that the company knew the game of quoits was being played and took no precautions to prevent persons being injured.

To Bid In Ferry Company.

In Jeffersonville it is said $100,000 or more will be bid for the rights and equipment of the Louisville and Jeffersonville Ferry Company when they are offered for sale in Louisville to-morrow. Some have an impression that the amount will be considerably more than $100,000 and the indications are that there will not be a lack of bidders. If the line is sold for $100,000 that will be just one-half of the present capitalization, $200,000, on which it has been a hard matter to pay dividends and running expenses since the interurban competition has developed. To all outward appearances there is no idea of the present company retiring. The boats are being overhauled, painted and put in good trim. Fern Grove, the picnic ground owned by the company, has been put in good condition.

Death Fast On Heels of Verdict.

Oscar Patrick, who was given a verdict for $3,500 damages against the J. L. Pease Company in the Clark Circuit Court in Jeffersonville on May 10, on account of injuries to one of his hands while operating a boring machine, died yesterday at his home in Clarksville of pneumonia. Patrick was taken ill on Sunday, and the disease became severe almost as soon as it developed, death following in less than four days. Patrick was hurt in June, 1906, his hand being made useless, and being a minor, his suit was filed through his father, Arthur Patrick, as his next friend. The jury was only out a short time before the finding was reached. Patrick was born at Birdseye, Ind., on February 23, 1887, and the body will be taken to his old home to-day for burial. Preparations are being made to appeal the suit.

—Anna S. Beck has conveyed in the office of George W. Stoner, Recorder of Clark county, part of lots 1 and 2 in the Eastern Enlargement of Jeffersonville to Mary McDonald for a consideration of $1,400.

—The canning factories in this county are fearful that the tomato crop will be unusually short, as the weather has been so cold that the plants have not grown sufficiently to be set out, and only a few will be this month.

—The joint committee making the arrangements for the two lodges of Knights of Pythias in this city holding memorial services has decided upon June 2 as the date and the Rev. J. S. Ward will probably deliver the address.

—Suit for the collection of a benefit certificate for $2,000 in the Knights of Honor has been filed in the Clark Circuit Court in Jeffersonville by Mrs. Martha C. Ehringer against the Supreme Lodge Knights of Honor, and Sarah D. McKeon.

—There is yet $300 to raise on the flood protection fund, and of the $3,700 subscribed about $2,600 in cash has been paid in. It is the impression that as soon as all the obligations have been liquidated what is still lacking can be easily secured.

—An effort is being made by the American Car and Foundry Company to get out twenty steel frame box cars for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway every day, as they are badly needed. There is practically no passenger work in sight.

—A large force of section hands has been brought here by the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern to run an additional track into the car works yard at Sixth street and Missouri avenue under an agreement entered into with the Board of Public Works recently.

—Post 86, G. A. R., has adopted resolutions objecting to the name of Warder Park being dropped on account of a site in the grounds having been sold for a post-office. The post does not object to the new names that have been adopted, but thinks the old should be retained also.

—Friends in this city are in receipt of invitations to attend the marriage of Paul Cranford and Miss Mabel Thomas at Scottsburg on June 5. The groom-elect is a son of the Rev. E. F. Cranford and the bride-to-be a daughter of Dr. John E. Thomas. Both are well known in this city.

—Another attempt will be made to-morrow at Charlestown to hold a public meeting to organize a company to build free gravel roads in the township, as no contractor can be found who wants the job. It is claimed that unless sufficient stone is donated to do the work it will not be done, as the estimate of cost is too low.

—More definite plans have been made for Ann Rogers Clark Chapter, D. A. R., celebrating the 105th anniversary of the founding of Jeffersonville, and the exercises will be held at Wall-street Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday afternoon, June 23. The Rev. Dr. J. S. Howk will deliver the address and other ministers will talk.

—Capt. W. E. English, of Indianapolis, who has a country estate near Lexington, has signified that he is willing to assist liberally in erecting a monument to the memory of his father, William H. English, who was at one time the Democratic nominee for Vice President, in the courthouse yard at Scottsburg, provided the other heirs will do the same.

—The demurrer to the fourth paragraph of the answer was overruled in the action of Lewis T. Bradford against Fred Beman and Frank Schefold, for the settlement of a disputed account in a partnership that existed between the three in building a waterworks in Kentucky. It is alleged by Bradford that he did not get all that was coming to him.

—Grace Jones, the nineteen-year-old girl who arrived at the home of Joseph Cook, who lives east of Jeffersonville, a few days ago and told a wonderful story as to how she had been kidnaped by a circus at Scott, Ohio, when she was eight years old and escaped at Elizabethtown, Ky., one week ago to-day, has disappeared. Capt. Clegg went to the Cook residence yesterday and found Miss Jones had been missing since Wednesday morning.

CONFESSES TO HIGHWAY ROBBERY IMPLICATING PALS.

Police Said To Have Come Upon Three Men Dividing Spoils—Held To Grand Jury.

Joseph Ditchler, on the witness stand in Police Court yesterday morning, admitted that he had held up and robbed Frank Gross, a Russell county farmer, in front of a saloon, on Green street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, early yesterday morning. He also implicated Joseph Meyer and Willard Wooley, who were arrested with him, and all three were held to answer to the grand jury, their bonds being fixed at $500 each.

The three men were arrested at Third avenue and Jefferson street shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning while they were dividing a sum of money. Sergt. Hutchinson and Patrolman McElliott found part of the money said to have been stolen from Gross in Ditchler's shoes. Gross was relieved of $35. STOPS FISHING TO MARRY YOUNG COUPLE.

Magistrate Cunningham Takes Time To Bait His Hook, First, However.

Cecil C. Mills and Miss Della M. McDaniel, young people of Crawford county, living near Bogard, were married in a buggy on the highway a few days ago by Magistrate William H. Cunningham, who performed the ceremony standing at the roadside. The young people had been to English, where they secured the marriage license and were driving home over a road that ran along the bank of Little Blue river, when they observed the Magistrate fishing in the stream with pole and line, contented and happy, as anglers usually are. They hailed the official and requested that he perform the ceremony. He deliberately baited the hook, fastened the pole securely and, stepping to the highway, pronounced the ceremony. The groom's age is nineteen years, while the bride is but sixteen.

ANOTHER RECORD FALLS AT CHURCHILL DOWNS

Pasadena Runs Seven Furlongs In 1:25 4-5, Lowering Mark Set By Pink Coat In 1900.

SEVERAL EVENTS RESULT IN SURPRISES

Funiculaire and Col. Jim Douglas Backed Off the Boards.

NEITHER GETS INSIDE MONEY.

TANGLEWOOD BEATS HEAVILY-PLAYED FAVORITES, WITH ORLANDWICK SECOND.

MOQUETTE IN FAST RACE.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

First Race—Devout, Light Note, Dr. Spruill.
Second Race—Posing, Royal River, Nedra.
Third Race—Nat B., Miss Alert, Usury.
Fourth Race—Dr. Heard, Naran, Lady Jocelyn.
Fifth Race—Gremse, Dandy Dancer, Lattice.
Sixth Race—Bottles, Bendigo, Louise Macfarlan.
Two best bets—Nat B., Gremse.

ANOTHER track record was broken at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon when Pasadena ran seven furlongs in 1:25 4-5. The best previous time for the same distance over the local course was made by Pink Coat, the winner of the American and St. Louis Derbies. On May 19, 1900, Pink Coat, who was then five years old, and carrying 116 pounds, negotiated the seven furlongs in 1:26. Yesterday afternoon Pasadena, with 109 pounds up, ran the same distance in 1:25 4-5.

Pasadena is a bay horse, five years old, by Ben Strome—Blue Bells and is owned by B. Vincent & Co. There were only five starters in this race, which was fifth on the card, and with Lee on Pasadena's back, this horse was made a 3 to 5 favorite and he simply galloped home, easily beating Jacquin, the second choice. It was a splendid performance, because the winner won as he pleased when his rider was ready.

The third race on the card yesterday furnished a number of surprises and there is no way to estimate how much money the bookmakers won on the result of it. There was an early tip on Funiculaire, Tom Hayes' gelding, and the talent and public alike played Funiculaire as if it was all over but the cheering. Then, ten minutes later, somebody started a report that Col. Jim Douglas, Alf Oldham's horse, would win beyond a doubt and that Mr Oldham would not start his horse in the big handicap Saturday. On the strength of this rumor thousands of dollars were wagered on Col. Jim Douglas, and, in spite of the strong play which had been made on Funiculaire, Col. Jim Douglas was backed from 4 and 5 to 1 off the boards. At post time there were very few bookmakers who would take a cent on Col. Jim Douglas. The winner, however, turned up in Tanglewood, at 4 to 1, with Orlandwick second and Electorine third. Neither Funiculaire nor Col. Jim Douglas finished inside the money. Tanglewood ran the distance just a fifth of a second slower than the track record.

Another very fast race was run in the first event, when Jim Meyers ran four and a half furlongs in :54 4-5. This was only four-fifths of a second slower than the track record made by John Marrs the day before. In the fourth race Moquette ran five furlongs in 1:00 4-5, and the record for this distance is 1:00½, made by Bensonhurst on May 11, 1903. Moquette beat a fine field of two-year-olds in this event, Parisian Model finishing second and Geneva S. third.

The weather yesterday was fair and balmy and exactly right for the sport of racing. The crowd was again very large and the form players had a good day. The favorites to win were Warner Griswell, Moquette and Pasadena.

* * *

Jim Meyers Wins Opener.

An unruly lot of youngsters faced the barrier in the first race, and it was some time before Starter Holtman could get them in perfect alignment, but when the gate went up it was to a good start, with Wagner, Jr., first to show in front. Jim Meyers took command after the first sixteenth with Synchronized at his throatlatch, but when the field was straightened out for the final effort, the son of Orlando began to draw away and plenty of daylight could be seen between the first two. Synchronized was much the best of the others and easily secured the place ten lengths in front of Budge Work. The latter was not favored by the start and had to come from a rear position, but was closing strong at the finish.

The second race resulted in an easy victory for Warner Griswell, which was the public choice in the betting at 7 to 5. The Dunne gelding had the foot of his party all the way and was never extended at any stage of the race, coming under the wire two lengths in advance of Alta McDonald. The latter was second to get away from the post, but was shuffled back soon after the start. When the field was coming around the backstretch Bilac, on the son of Sanders, moved up again into a contending position and easily took the place honors by two lengths from Hardshot. Anna Ruskin had a lot of early speed, but tired in the run through the stretch.

Tanglewood a Surprise.

In the third race Talbot Bros. uncovered a good thing in Tanglewood, which was quoted at 4 to 1 in the speculation, being backed from an opening price of 5 to 1. The bulk of the money, however, was set in on Col. Jim Douglas, but the son of Henry Young proved a bitter disappointment. He went to the front at the quarter and still had a slight advantage at the half mile pole, but it was evident that the Oldham horse was not up to the race, as he dropped hopelessly out of contention and finished next to last. Orlandwick ran forwardly all the way and had no trouble in securing the place by two lengths from Electorine. The latter was a rank outsider in the betting, being held at 40 to 1.

Eight shifty youngsters took issue in the fourth race at five furlongs. This is the first time that the younger division has been seen in a race at more than four and one-half furlongs. Moquette and Black Mary having worked well at this distance, were installed the favorites at 5 to 2. They were both well supported, but the heaviest play was directed against the Young colt, Moquette going to the post at 8 to 5, while Black Mary was held at 11 to 5. Parisian Model forced the pace to the top of the stretch, where Moquette took command and came home to easy victory. The son of Ben Holladay had to come from a rear position, wore down the leaders one by one and was a length and a half to the good when he passed the judges' stand. Geneva S. ran in close attendance to the pacemaker, but tired in the final drive.

Pasadena's Good Race.

The fifth race, a free handicap at seven furlongs, the feature offering on the card, resulted in Pasadena breaking the track record for the seven furlong route that was hung up by Pink Coat, winner of the American Derby. Pasadena was off last to a poor start, but Jockey Lee, who had the leg up, forced his way into a contending position, followed the pacemaker to the turn on the backstretch, when he let out a wrap on the son of Ben Strome, who shot to the front like a flash and crossed the wire a length and a half in front of Jacquin. The latter forced a terrific pace, but was unable to stall off the challenge of the winner, finishing second six lengths in advance of Royal Breeze.

Demo won the last number on the card, which resulted in a spirited contest, the McCarren gelding getting the decision by a narrow margin. Albert Fir was first to break when the barrier was sprung, but dropped back and laid away from the pace, hooked up with Demo in the run through the stretch and was only beaten a scant head for the long end of the purse. King Leopold, the choice of the talent, was relegated to the rear ranks in the scramble for positions right after the start and was compelled to take the overland route, that spoiled whatever chances he might have had. He ran a good race, however, and easily secured the show money by two lengths from Bazil.

* * *

Steeplechase Handicap To-day.

A free steeplechase handicap over the short course stands out as the leading attraction on to-day's programme. Some good jumpers have been carded for this event, including such good ones as Naran, Lady Jocelyn and Dr. Heard. The latter has not been to the races since his impressive victory at City Park, when he defeated a good field in resolute style. Naran and Lady Jocelyn have also won distinction in past performances over the hedges, and the others are not a bad sort by any means.

Class is well represented in various events. Nat B. is slated for the third number. Although he ran disappointingly in his recent race, which was due to bad racing luck, he should be a hard one to beat.

The milers will have an inning in the first race, which is a very open affair. Taken as a whole the card is an excellent one. The indexed entries follow:

CHAT OF THE COURSE.

Col. Jim Douglas, the property of Alf Oldham, City Court Clerk, made his appearance in the third race at the Downs yesterday. He was making his first start in 1907, and whether or not he was ready for a hard, fast race, nobody seemed to know. Of course if he was fit, he was the class of the race and the natural favorite. In the opening betting the bookmakers, who seemed as much at sea as the players, threw out a sort of a feeler by opening up Col. Jim Douglas and Funiculaire equal choices at 2 to 1. This caused a mad stampede to Funiculaire and the chamois came into requisition. Funiculaire's price shrank under tenders of money to 6 to 5. All doubt now seemed dispelled as to the condition of Col. Jim and his price soared to 18 to 5 and in spots to 4 to 1.

Early in the day it was observed that Jake Greenberg and both his sons were at the track and somebody said that word had been received that the store with the three large familiar golden balls was closed and deserted. This was significant information and thereafter the Greenbergs of like number with the familiar golden balls were closely watched. The pawnshop is a good business and a sure business, but when it comes to getting the money fast and furious it just can't be compared with betting money on a winner. Well, when Jim Douglas touched 4 to 1 it was more than the Greenbergs could stand, and they don't care much for money, either—then something happened —Coins of every date and discription, ancient and modern, lucky pieces and pocket pieces and mementoes that had lain quietly in the big old safe on Market street dormant for years showed up in the ring. Word was passed along the line, "Look out, the Greensbergs are coming and are trying to get down." Jake had sent a big commission to the out-of-town poolrooms, but when Col. Jim reached 4 to 1, he tried to unbelt in the local ring too, but the man who puts on the commissions in the local ring for the out-of-town poolrooms beat him to it. It was as pretty a race as you ever saw. Neck and neck they ran from book to book, and strange to tell, Jake was always beaten a nose. Then Jake pleaded and begged. "I tell you de true, I don't know anything about Jim Douglas, I just bet on him because I like Lon and out of compliment to Alf I want to get on a bet at 4 to 1. Please dont rub." But they rubbed and then rubbed some more and again they rubbed and then once more for the cigars, and Col. Jim, when it was all over, stood at 7 to 5, with nobody to share the post of honor with him, Funiculaire having receded to 2½ to 1. Now was Jim Douglas good and fit and what was the matter with Funiculaire? You can see Greenberg at the sign of the three golden balls. The doors were thrown wide open immediately after the third race.

Ike Griffin had a few good-sized bets down on Warner Griswell and Pasadena.

* * *

Jimmy J. Burke was certainly in line yesterday. He picked three winners. They were Warner Griswell, Tanglewood and Pasadena.

* * *

Sammy Most, the bookmaker, has the faculty of drawing the booth next to the sandwich vendor's stand, a place he has occupied for the last few days. Most is given credit for the announcement that he will give away a sandwich with every winning ticket cashed in his book if he happens to find himself in the same place the next time he draws in.

Harry Carr, track superintendent at the Downs, deserves to be complimented for his good work. He is working wonders with the old course, which, at the present time, is faster and in better shape than it has ever been. No better evidence is needed than the performance of Pasadena and others that have recently hung up new records.

* * *

Pasadena was given credit for being a good horse and he lived up to it, and he will be considered as such until a better horse comes along, which will probably not be for some time.

The all-orange of John Rodegap was again in front in the first race, this time borne by Jim Myers, a two-year-old bay gelding by Orlando that was making his entree on the turf. Brown Mary scored for the same owner Tuesday. Jim Myers was a hot tip right from the griddle and he made good decisively. Nobody on the turf has more friends than the veteran trainer, John Rodegap. "Rody" may forget some things with his advancing years, but how to condition them—never. Hats off to the grand old man. May his years and winners be many.

* * *

J. Lee got the lion's share yesterday with three winners. This boy rides well and is deservedly popular. In connection with the mention of his name there is never the slightest reference by smile or wink of anything reprehensible or dishonest. Moreover, he never tries to take an unfair advantage, which his greater strength naturally offers him, as against the diminutive, inexperienced little fellows riding for the goal with him.

Demo must be set down as a horse with a big heart and great determination, for twice now he has dragged Skirvin to a victory.

Jim Myers had all the speed and assumed command at the first turn, raced Synchronized into defeat, drew away in the run home and won with plenty in reserve. Synchronized was easily the best of the others. Budge Work dropped into third place in the final strides. Headline ran into a contending position, but tired in the run home.

Warner Griswell showed the most speed, went to the front at the start and was thereafter never in danger of defeat. Alta McDonald hung on gamely and followed the pace and had no contention for the place. Hard Shot outgamed Anna Ruskin in the closing strides for the third place. The latter tired chasing the first two.

2060—THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs; purse $500; for three-year-olds and up. Start good; won handily; place same. Winner, Talbott Bros.' b. c., 3, by Jno. Bright—Matilda; trained by W. H. Talbott. Value to winner, $400. Fractional time, :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:00, 1:12 4-5, 1:26 1-5.

Tanglewood avoided the early pace, wore down Electorine in the run through the stretch, raced her into defeat, and had enough left at the end to stall off the challenge of Orlandwick. The latter, running to his best form, ran a sparkling race. Electorine had early speed, but could not live the fast pace. Col. Jim Douglas found the pace too hot, and quit early. Funiculaire could never get up. The others were always outrun.

2061—FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs; purse $500; for two-year-olds. Start good; won easily; place same. Winner, W. J. Young's b. c., by Ben Holliday—Ruction; trained by owner. Value to winner, $400. Fractional time, :12, :23 3-5, :35 4-5, :47 3-5, 1:00 4-5.

Moquette, off none too well, raced around his field at the far turn, saved ground on the turn, caught Parisian Model in the last sixteenth and won going away. Parisian Model had the most early speed, forced a fast pace and was tiring at the finish, but had no contention for second place. Geneva S. was in keen contention all the way and easily took third place. Judge Dundon had early speed. Albert Star trailed the field until the turn for home and finished fast.

2062—FIFTH RACE—Seven furlongs; free handicap; purse $600; for three-year olds and up. Start bad; won easily; place same. Winner, B. Vincent & Co.'s b. h., 5, by Ben Strome—Blue Bells; trained by owner. Value to winner, $450. Fractional time, :12 3-5, :24, :47 3-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:25 4-5.

Pasadena waited on Jacquin until making the far turn, moved up with a rush, caught the latter and after a sharp brush drew away and won easily. Jacquin forced a fast pace and easily held the others safe. Royal Breeze could not improve his position, but easily held the third place safe. Frontenac could never get up.

2063—SIXTH RACE—One mile; purse $500; for three-year-olds and up; selling. Start good; won driving; place same. Winner, H. McCarren, Jr.'s b. g., 3, by Bel Demonio—Caloocan; trained by owner. Value to winner, $400. Fractional time, :24 3-5, :49 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 3-5.

Demo withstood the challenge of Bazil and gamely fought it out all through the stretch with Albert Fir, outgaming him to the wire. Albert Fir followed the pace keenly and was much the best of the others. King Leopold, off tangled, ran a winning race. Bazil had early speed, but quit when the real test came.

Warner Griswell 7-5 Won

What my message said: "Warner Griswell is my one best bet. That race the other day was too short for him; this is his distance to-day. Get down good and heavy. He is in." Was I right?

Pasadena 1-1 Won

Was my second best bet. What my message said: "Bet on this horse straight, as he never was better than at present; could beat Jacquin equally weighted; plunge to the limit." Was I right? Others given on my card:

Moquette - - 3-1 Won
Albert Fir - 15-1 2d
Synchronized 3-1 2d

They're Soft To-day.

To-day I will put you wise to a trick that has just been out of the money his last three starts. His last out you would have thought he wore greased plates, as he sprawled all over the race track and not only that, but he got into more pockets than there are in an English suit of clothes. Boys, I have the high sign that to-day is the day. My advice will be to take the opening betting. Set it in, say nothing, and look wise, as the rest is a foregone conclusion. Nuf Sed.

GUN CLUB SHOOT.

Jake Gay Makes Fine Score At Annual Target Tournament At Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., May 23.—[Special.]—About 100 crack marksmen assembled here to-day at the fifth annual target tournament of the Kentucky Trap Shooters' League, which began to-day and will continue through to-morrow. There were few representatives from Louisville, but a big delegation is expected to-morrow, when most of the important prizes will be contested for.

The two trophies offered to-day were the Lawyers' Cup, the chief prize of the day, which was won by Jake Gay, of the Fayette Gun Club, and the Druggists' Cup, won by Dodge, of the same club. Gay did some remarkable shooting. In the first match he broke nineteen out of twenty balls, and repeated this on his second and third attempts, winding up with two perfect scores, making his total score 97 out of a possible 100. Dodge won the Druggists' Cup by 23 out of a possible 25.

Alonzo Walker, of Louisville, scored well enough in some of the minor events to, as he expressed it, "win my expenses." To-morrow there will be four handsome prizes offered, and the Louisville contestants, most of whom will arrive in the morning, expect to make a good showing.

At the business session of the league this evening it was decided to hold the next live bird shoot at Louisville and the next meet with the Northern Gun Club, of Dayton, Ky. The day for the Northern event has not yet been fixed. The following officers were elected: George B. Kinkead, Lexington, president; J. Q. Ward, Paris, vice president, and Frank Pragoff, Louisville, secretary and treasurer.

GOES AFTER ELKS UNDER "BLIND TIGER" LAW.

Evansville, Ind., May 23.—[Special.]—The Rev. W. C. Helt, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, this afternoon filed proceedings in a justice's court against the Elks' Club under the new "blind tiger" law. He, however, agreed to hold the matter in abeyance until a decision is received from the Attorney General on the constitutionality of the law. This is the first attempt in Evansville to enforce the blind tiger law.

Day after day I am delivering the goods, putting 'em over at all sorts of fancy prices, and in most cases they are long shot sleepers that suddenly come to life on the particular days I send 'em out.

Big Clean To-day!

I'll come right back to-day with a Long Shot Sleeper that has been specially prepped for this One Big Killing by the smartest man that ever threw a bridle on a horse. On this one you should get anywhere from 15 to 20 to 1, and on the square it looks to me like an Even-Money Shot. Get this one and bet your winnings on it right back on a 30 to 1 Shot Saturday.

Another of my Famous Long Shots goes Saturday, and, take it from me, only James J. Burk will be in a position to put you next.

Like all the others, this baby has been prepared "in secret," and in consequence I dare not say too much (in print.) Suffice to say it's a Lead Pipe Cinch and will win at 30 to 1 or better.

Either of the above good things is well worth the price of a whole week's information, and if you are wise you'll waste no time, but get aboard at once. Send in your subscription or you may be shut out.

EASY VICTORY FOR JACOBITE

Second Choice Wins the Patchogue Stakes At Gravesend.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS SPORT

Zambesi Handily Beats Montgomery, W. H. Carey and Others In the Handicap.

RESULTS ON OTHER TRACKS.

NEW YORK, May 23.—This was another bad day for favorites at Gravesend. Sepoy, in the last race, being the only choice to win. Jacobite, second choice in the betting, won the Patchoque Stakes in a romp. Masanello, the winner of the fifth race, was bid up to $2,000 and claimed by E. Henry.

With the Patchoque States, with $1,500 added, a handicap at a mile and seventy yards, including some of the crack weight handlers quartered here, and a steeplechase affair via the two-mile course, as magnates of attraction, it was little wonder that such a record-breaking attendance was on hand at the Metropolitan track this afternoon.

The opener, which was a three-quarter-mile handicap, brought together a good lot of three-year-olds. Of the bunch Charles Edward, held at 6 to 1, won easily, with Oraculum, ridden out, two and a half lengths back, just a head in front of Jack Atkin.

The steeplechase proved an interesting race, the first three horses, Phantom, Caller and Oro, being closely bunched.

A fair lot faced the starter in the third, a handicap at a mile and seventy yards, and Zambesi won by two and a half lengths from Montgomery and W. H. Carey.

The feature of the day, the Patchoque Stakes, proved a horse race from start to finish, and in the grueling drive through the stretch, Jacobite beat Pretension by half a length. The rest of the field was never in it, for Pantoufle, the third horse, was five lengths behind Pretension. Summaries:

TWENTY-THREE MEN ASK TO BE EXCUSED

JUDGE'S RULING MELTS BAND OF PETITIONERS.

LAWYERS RESUME EFFORTS TO SECURE JURY.

ONE MAN PARTLY QUALIFIES.

Boise, Idaho, May 23.—The net results of this, the tenth day of the Haywood trial, were the partial weeding out of the talesmen of the second special venire entitled to statutory exemption, and the partial qualification of one juror.

The sixty men of the second special venire presented themselves when the judge ascended the bench at 2 o'clock this afternoon and when it was announced that the court would hear excuses twenty-three of the sixty marched followed. Judge Wood said that he would accept only those excuses which clearly came within the statute and, when he made good his announcement, the band of petitioners melted very quickly. Five petitions were flatly denied, nine were temporarily denied, six were granted. The other three petitioners did not bother to present their excuses.

Then began the attempt to fill seat No. 9, made vacant by the release of Juror Cole on account of illness. The first five talesmen had opinions that would require evidence to change —one of them said his opinion would last regardless of the evidence—and they all went down on challenge from the State. Early in the examination Clarence Darrow, for the defense, asserted that James H, Hawley, for the State, was seeking to lead talesmen up to qualification by improper questioning. Judge Wood overruled his objection, but he continued to address the court. Mr. Hawley bristled and for a few moments there was promise of a scrimmage. But the court checked the incipient row and the examination went on.

The tenth and last talesman called was Henry Curtis, a farmer, and he gave every indication of qualifying. Senator Borah led him over a long examination that showed him to be free from opinion or bias and to be quite open-minded. Just as the State passed him for cause, and he went to the hands of the defense for examination, the trial was adjourned until 9:30 to-morrow morning. After a talesman has been qualified for Mr. Cole's place the State will use its seventh peremptory challenge which will be the thirteenth challenge out of the twenty allotted.

President To See Regatta.

New York, May 23.—Announcement was made to-day that President Roosevelt expects to be at the intercollegiate regatta this year, on the Hudson river, June 28. The presence of the Annapolis crew in the race is what interests him. It will be the first occasion on which he has watched the regatta as President.

It is understood that he will follow the race in a new yacht now being built for Mr. Frank, of Poughkeepsie, to be used as a boat for the referee as well.

It's coming down in tons from Pittsburg.... There is no prettier sight than to see the City of Louisville or City of Cincinnati leave here on Sunday morning full of people for Cincinnati....Items of river news are scarce nowadays....The Georgia Lee leaves for Memphis next Thursday at noon....The steamer Chevalier, plying between Huntington, W. Va., and Gallipolis, O., and the C. and O. wharfboat, was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning at Huntington. The loss was $25,000, the greater part of which falls on R. Brown and M. E. Brown, owners of the steamboat. There was about $8,000 insurance on the steamboat. Eight members of the crew of the Chevalier were aboard when the fire was discovered, and narrowly escaped. Capt. Dick Brown was asleep and was almost suffocated. The origin of the fire is unknown....The Paducah News Democrat says: According to reports in river circles Capt. Bruce Barnes, of the Royal, has been suspended thirty days by Capts. Green and St. John because when they rang in a "phony" fire alarm on his boat last Wednesday while she was at the Paducah wharf there was no response. One of the new tricks in Government inspection nowadays is to ring the fire bell when the crew is busy. They claim that the Royal's crew was so busy nobody heard the bell. While Capt. Barnes is off Linn Moss is in his place. Several other crews had narrow escapes from being caught at Paducah. Dozens of crews up and down the rivers have been caught off watch....The Catherine Davis is coming with timber....The Natchez Bulletin says: The Inland Water Commission, which is investigating the Mississippi river with the view to securing at all seasons a deep water channel from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, arrived yesterday, being received by the committee appointed for the purpose headed by A. G. Campbell, and treated to a trolley ride over the city tendered by Superintendent Moorman. Of course, there were refreshments galore at the Prentiss Club, where there was a little speech and toast-making of a felicitous character, after which they returned to their boat and departed for points below during the night. They have nothing to do with the river and harbor work, the committee on which will make its regular semi-annual inspection later. This is a new committee....The river is falling again at Pittsburg....The Joe B. Williams and tow were at Cairo going South Wednesday....The Donca will run in the Madison and Kentucky river trade....The Senator Cardin is making repairs at Algiers, opposite New Orleans....A New York special says: The new king of the seas, the White Star line Adriatic, reached her dock this afternoon after a remarkably quick trip for so large a craft. She reached her pier at 1:30 p. m. The length of the new Adriatic, over all, is 725 feet 9 inches; breadth, 75 feet 6 inches; depth, about 50 feet; gross tonnage, 25,000. With her accommodation for 3,000 passengers and her ship's company she made an enormous advance upon the old Adriatic. The new vessel is based upon the lines of her sister ship, the Baltic, but is larger, handsomer and represents the latest development in the building of passenger vessels....The S. S. Brown has laid up one week at Memphis to make some needed repairs....Nothing doing in towboat circles yesterday.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, May 23.—[Special.]—The Executive Committee of the National Board of Steam Navigation has selected Norfolk, Va., as the place for the next annual convention which will be held on September 16. Pittsburg rivermen are deeply interested in this organization and there is a large membership in Western Pennsylvania. J. Frank Tilley, secretary of the Coal Exchange, is treasurer and several of the leading river operators are members of the executive board. The only accident to the coal fleet was the grounding of the tow of the W. C. Jutte at Wallory bar. One barge was sunk and the Rival assisted in pulling off the tow. The other tows escaped being caught by the falling water. The Sam Brown and the Charlie Brown are nearing the harbor with tows of empties. There was 6.5 feet at Davis Island dam this evening and the river was falling. It will be necessary to put the dams up to-morrow to keep the pool full for local operations.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS REPORTED YESTERDAY.

Activity In Market Shown By Deeds Recorded In Courthouse.

J. J. Gaffney secured a permit yesterday for the erection of a two-story brick apartment house on Ormsby avenue, between First and Brook streets. The structure will cost $7,500 and will be divided into four apartments. Work will be begun on the building within the next few days.

M. W. Burd was granted a permit for the erection of a two-story frame dwelling on Garland avenue, near Twenty-second street. The structure is to cost $3,000.

Two important deals in real estate were brought to a close yesterday by the real estate department of the Fidelity Trust Company. One was the sale of the two-and-a-half story residence at 1629 Fourth avenue, now occupied by Bruce Haldeman, to C. W. Erdman for $10,000. Mr. Erdman will occupy the property himself.

The other sale was that of a two-story business building, the first floor of which is used as a saloon, on the northwest corner of Eleventh and Main streets, to J. B. Nieneber. The property was owned by Temple Bodley and was sold for a price said to be $6,200. The property will be improved by the new owner.

The effect of the passage of the proposed annexation ordinance on the real estate market is causing speculation among real estate dealers. Some believe that if outlying districts are taken in that the price of property in those districts will be increased on account of the increased tax rate unless city advantages in the way of police and fire protection, and water, light and gas are given soon. A well-known real estate dealer said yesterday that he believed the annexation would have a depressing effect on subdivisions adjacent to the city.

At public auction yesterday J. H. Caperton, executor, sold through the Burton-Whayne Company the three-story brick residence at 1018 Floyd street to Mrs. Carrie Davie for $3,350. The house has a hall, eight rooms and a bath, and is on a lot 22½x60 feet.

George H. Fisher & Co. sold at auction yesterday afternoon the cottage on Charles and Kreiger street to Andrew Ellison, Jr., for $1,150. This firm has sold every piece of property they have offered at auction this spring.

HOOSIERS WIN ANOTHER GAME

Colonels Suffer Thirteenth Straight Defeat, Though Score Is Close.

WEAK PITCHING AND FIELDING.

Double By Peitz and a Single By Quinlan Responsible For the Louisville's Score.

CLOSE GAME ALL THE WAY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—[Special.]—The Colonels played in hard luck again to-day, and, though they held the Indians down to two runs and made but one themselves, the game was a better exhibition of sport than on yesterday and was lost because of the same fault, weak pitching and weak outfielding.

Louisville failed to make good in the first, but Indianapolis got away with a rush, scoring one run and nearly making another. Coulter hit for a base, stole second and crossed the plate on Carr's single to center.

The Kentuckians drew one in their half of the second, Peitz scoring on his double and Quinlan's single. Peitz opened with a double to left center and went to third on Stanley's sacrifice, Slagle to Carr. Quinlan was caught trying to steal. Woodruff was easy for Hopke and Carr. Short work was made of the Indians in their half, although Hopke got a safe one. Slagle, the first man up, flied to Sullivan and Quinlan did a pretty piece of fielding on Livingston, throwing the runner out at first. Hopke then came along with a single to center, but it counted for naught, as the best Slagle could do was to fly out to Stanley.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings were blanks, but were characterized by the best plays of the game, it being nip and tuck between the two teams, with the score standing even at one each.

Siegle was hit in the small of the back, and, although he tried to get out of the way of the ball, Umpire Kerins refused to give him his base. He then drew a pass. Livingston tried to break up the game with a triple to center that scored Siegle. Brashear captured Hopke's high fly, holding Livingston at third. Slagle flied to Stanley, and Carr, who was in the third-base coacher's box, apparently held Livingston at third until the catch was made. Livingston then scored easily, but Umpire Kerins, whose work in all the Indianapolis games that he has officiated in has been the most amateurish ever seen in this city, ruled Livingston out for leaving third base before the ball was caught. ADVANCE IN PRICES MADE BY DISTILLERS.

Cincinnati, May 23.—The first advance that has been made for over a year in the bulk price of whisky was announced here to-day. The raise is two cents a gallon, from $1.29 to $1.31. The prevailing high price of corn is given as the cause for the advance. Both independent and combine distillers will demand the advance, in accordance with an agreement when the whisky war was compromised two years ago. The advance also will mean an increase of at least two cents a gallon on denatured alcohol for commercial use.

Chicago 5, New York 2.

New York, May 23.—Chicago defeated New York at the Polo Grounds to-day by a score of 5 to 2, winning two out of the series of three games. Manager McGraw called upon the services of his entire staff of six pitchers, but could not stave off defeat. The game was won and lost in the fifth inning, when Mathewson was batted out of the box, Sheckard making a home run with two men on bases. In all McGraw confronted the visitors with seventeen players and the big gathering of spectators was kept on the tiptoe of expectation and excitement at every stage. Score:

Pullman Company officials state that the rush of car building business is letting up considerably, although the railroads are continuing to order new equipment.

Railroad officials, according to the New York Commercial, have been advised by car builders that more freight cars will be turned over to the various lines during May, June and July than ever before in that length of time. According to statements by the builders, more than 200,000 new cars will be turned out this year, many of which have already been delivered. It was expected that freight traffic would be curtailed at this time of the year, but reports show that this business for April was heavier than in any past year and was as great as it was during the busiest season in the past.

The Georgia Railway and Electric Company, of Atlanta, returned its property valuation at $3,700,000, whereas the State has fixed the taxable value at $17,987,000. The company has a total bond and stock capitalization of about $18,000,000, and the State Controller, taking the public taxes as a basis and capitalizing the system at 6 per cent., obtained the valuation above quoted.

In ten years John D. Rockefeller has derived $104,530,000 in dividends from Standard Oil—equal, roughly, to the total gold produced by the Transvaal last year. It was shown by Commissioner Knox's report that Mr. Rockefeller held 27-40 per cent. of Oil Trust stock, and a statistician figures out the income thereon thus, the 1907 total being only up to date:

The McKinley system of interurban electric railways is preparing to operate through trains between St. Louis and Danville, which is situated practically on the Illinois-Indiana State line. The connecting link between Decatur and Champaign is finished, except the erection of a bridge across the Sangamon river, east of Decatur. Indiana electric railway companies are now building extensions toward Danville. This construction will be finished by the end of this year. Then there will be direct routes from St. Louis to Indianapolis, Toledo and Detroit. The McKinley and the Indiana systems will enter into arrangements for the operation of through trains from Detroit and Indianapolis to St. Louis. By the end of this year the McKinley system will have at least 500 miles of road in operation. It will have a St. Louis and Chicago road, and a line between St. Louis, Indianapolis and Detroit.

WINTER AND SPRING WHEAT CROPS.

The yields and acreage of winter and spring wheat for seven years as given below, show that years of low yield and reduced acreage in one generally accompany similar reductions in the other. The lowest winter wheat yield occurred in 1904, when the smallest spring wheat crop was gathered. In 1903, the smallest spring wheat acreage in six years occurred, however, with the largest winter wheat acreage, showing the former area to be but half of the latter. Last year the largest winter crop was grown with only an average spring crop. The totals for seven years are as follows:

COTTON ACREAGE REDUCED.

Latham, Alexander & Co., of New York, have issued their annual estimate on the acreage sown to cotton this season. It is as follows: "With the view of obtaining the most reliable information possible concerning the cotton acreage of the United States for 1907, we addressed 6,000 letters to banks, bankers, cotton commission merchants and responsible planters, embracing every cotton-growing county in the South, asking acreage estimates. Up to this date we have secured 4,562 replies, of average date of May 16, and the following tabulation is the result. In our opinion it is as approximately correct an estimate of the cotton acreage as could be secured by direct communication with parties competent to judge, residing in the Southern States.

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—There were rumors of more heavy borrowing to be announced in the near future and gossip was busy with the names of a number of prominent speculators who were claimed to have been heavy sellers recently. There seems to be a big demand for stocks in the loan crowd, but bears claim that a considerable portion of this is against long stocks which may be delivered later. A great deal of the trading is undoubtedly for professional account and the fluctuations are largely due to traders' operations, but while this element is supposed to be inclined to sell on advances there is but little unanimity of action, and as a result of frequent shifting of position very few have found the net results of their operations profitable. It would seem that but little if any more necessary liquidation is probable, and if the market can be kept quiet for a few days, it is likely that gradual healthy improvement would begin.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—We see little to stimulate any extended speculation either way for the time being, excepting changes in the short interest, which continues very large, and on any favorable news we are apt to have a sharp rally. The professional temper here, however, continues very bearish.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—One particular reason why the railroads fear Government valuation of their assets is that the States would have basis for sharply increasing taxes above amounts now paid. There was talk of extent of the short interest and of some investment buying, but on the whole the market did not show much resiliency and will probably prove irregular for a time until affairs become more settled and there is more aggressiveness on the part of large interests.—(Ennis & Stoppani to E. H. Morgan & Co.

New York.—We believe the short interest to-night is extremely large. While there was not much desire on the part of the public to buy stocks to-day, there was no outside selling pressure. The several setbacks were due entirely to bear attack. As for New York Central, the feeling is growing that some new note issue is imminent and it is likely to come within a few days. But we think the selling of this stock has probably been overdone. One of the best pieces of news was a reported interview with Premier Roblin, of Manitoba, in which he predicted no falling off in acreage for his country and said the seeding this year was under the most favorable auspices in several years. The good rains in Kansas and Nebraska also contributed to the sharp break in wheat and other grain.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

New York.—Each day brings some new financing which is not at all to the liking of Wall street, and this fact, together with the most unusual weakness in the bond market, serves to depress sentiment materially. With almost daily demands by wage-earners for increased pay, etc., we believe the situation has not changed in the least, and that barring rallies from time to time on technical conditions, that the tendency of the market is still downward, and therefore it would pay to meet the market on all rallies with sales.—(Miller & Co. to John L. Dunlap.

New York.—The bears made an attack on New York Central and Steel common. It was shown also that the short interest was not as large as generally supposed.—(Kelley, Miller & Co. to Almstedt Bros.

New York.—Stocks were sold and offered from the opening in large amounts by brokers who have been long regarded as representing agressive bear interests, but the effect of this selling and bear pressure was far less than had been expected by those who knew the scope of the bear efforts, and it was generally assumed that support that appeared in the market yesterday was evident to-day on a large enough scale to absorb all offers at moderate concessions.—(Ex. Norton & Co. to J. J. B. Hilliard & Son.

New York.—Until the last hour the tone was hard throughout and the general comment was that there was but little stock offering. In the late trading these offerings increased and prices yielded quite easily, so that the close was as a rule below last night. New York Central was conspicuous in the late decline on persistent rumors of a large and pending note issue and of a reduction in the dividend next month. Considering the decline the market has had in the past seven days there is very little snap to the overdue rally of yesterday and this morning.—(E. & C. Randolph to E. E. Paine & Co.

New York.—The strength and activity displayed in yesterday's session was nowhere in evidence to-day. While Union Pacific showed signs of strength, Smelters was being hammered, and the trend of the general list was divided. That yesterday's late upturn was caused by the running in of shorts was clearly shown by the action of to-day's market. The list did not respond to continued favorable news from the wheat belt, something that has been lacking for days, and one thing to which the bulls have pinned a great deal of faith. On the contrary, the action of to-day's trading was a disappointment from almost any point of view. We still believe this market should be sold on all bulges.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

New York.—Prices held firm to-day, although some attempts were made to depress the market soon after the opening. A quiet covering of shorts was evident and some scarcity of stocks was experienced by buyers of the inactive stocks. As usual the Harriman issues led in activity and strength. A purely professional market characterized the afternoon dealings. The Steel stocks, especially common, were depressed on heavy trading. Rumors were current of liquidation by big steel interests. The selling of the stock had a suspicious look and did not act well on the rest of the list. A quiet, listless market ruled in the afternoon, with some evidence of realizing.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, May 23.—Money on call easy at 2 per cent.; ruling rate 2; closing bid 2; offered at 2; time loans dull and steady; 60 days 3¾@4; 90 days 4; six months 4½; prime mercantile paper 5½. Sterling exchange easy with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8625@4.8660 for demand and at $4.8355@4.8360 for 60-day bills; posted rates $4.84½ and $4.87½; commercial bills $4.83⅜@4.83½. Bar silver 67c. Mexican dollars 51¾c. Government bonds irregular. Railroad bonds heavy.

The stock market to-day relapsed into a condition of lethargy from which the spell of liquidation this week briefly awakened it. Yesterday's brisk recovery was due to the retirement of a large short interest and the usual effect was seen to-day in the reduction of the buying necessities which a short interest involves. The demand was so far curtailed that renewed attack on prices was invited, but this attempt developed the fact that support was being accorded to some of the influential stocks. Also there was no such liquidation induced by the decline in prices as was dislodged in the bear raids of Tuesday. Traders thus met with discouraging factors in whichever direction they attempted to move prices. The attempts were practically abandoned at times and the trading was in a condition of semi-stagnation, with a barely perceptible drift of prices. The downward tendency was renewed at the last.

Some steadying effect was due to the reaction in the wheat market and to various reports of improved conditions of the wheat crop, but there was nothing sufficiently conclusive in the news to overcome the situation about buying stocks for long accounts or for investment. Foreign markets showed the same heavy and inert conditions and the same doubts over the investment situation seemed to be reflected.

Money conditions are hardening in London and $1,230,000 gold was shipped from there to Paris. Labor difficulties in the South African gold mines threaten some interruption to London's gold supply. London also has lost control of the American exchange and is unable to shift the Paris demand for gold on New York. This may be due to the fact that Japanese funds withdrawn from London are remitted to this country in payment for railroad material and equipment. Paris continued uneasy over the money outlook, although the Bank of France in its weekly statement to-day showed an accession of upward of $4,000,000 in gold holdings. The money market here was easy on the surface. This is due in part to the purpose of lenders to keep their funds in a form of loans which may be recalled readily. The condition of ease in call loans is regarded as a sign of the uncertain feeling over the money prospects.

The $5,000,000 Erie note issue was the latest addition to the capital necessities of the railroads. Other issues are felt to be sure to come, New York Central was pointed at still in the current rumor as the most likely candidate for the next issue of securities to be announced. The New York banks continue to gain on sub-treasury operations and interior exchanges indicate the continuance of the flow of currency toward New York. Some special shipments to Canada are being made, however, which may effect the showing of the next bank statement. Bankers keep up their interest in the question of withdrawal of Government deposits from the national banks in preparation for bond redemptions on July 1. It is held that such withdrawal might operate to prevent gold exports to France and so keep resources available for this market in case of need. The fall in foreign exchange, however, seems to have averted the present likelihood of gold exports without this action by the Treasury.

The passage of the Two-cent Fare Bill at Albany was a factor in the weak closing of the market.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, May 23.—Money was in increased supply in the market to-day and the demand was strong. Discounts were firmer. On the Stock Exchange the higher rates charged for money, the exports of gold, the probability that the gold output from South Africa will be lessened by the strike and the fact that there was no reduction to-day of the Bank of England's rate of discount were a few of the depressing influences causing a downward trend of quotations, consols dropping a quarter of a point and other British securities going down in sympathy. There was practically no buying power, as even investors had become shy. Americans opened cheerful in spite of the sharp rise in the price of wheat, but during the forenoon profit-taking started a decline, which was accentuated later by New York selling. The market closed weak. Foreigners eased in sympathy with the weakness in Paris. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 101⅞. At the close quotations were as follows: Consols for money 84⅝; do for the account 84 11-16; Anaconda 12¼; Atchison 90¼; do preferred 97; Baltimore and Ohio 98½; Canadian Pacific 176; Chesapeake and Ohio 36⅝; Chicago Great Western 10½; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 131½; De Beers 25⅝; Denver and Rio Grande 25¾; do preferred 72; Erie 23¼; do first preferred 56½; do second preferred 38½; Illinois Central 142; Louisville and Nashville 116; Missouri, Kansas and Texas 33⅝; New York Central 115; Norfolk and Western 77¼; do preferred 86; Ontario and Western 35½; Pennsylvania 62; Rand Mines 5⅝; Reading 52½; Southern Railway 20⅛; do preferred 67½; Southern Pacific 81½; Union Pacific 139⅝; do preferred 90; United States Steel 34⅝; do preferred 101; Wabash 13½; do preferred 24; Grand Trunk 29⅝; Spanish fours 95. Paris, May 23.—On the Bourse to-day rentes continued to fall and prices generally were weak. Russian imperial 4s were unquoted. Russian bonds of 1904 closed at 487. Three per cent. rentes 94f 45c for the account. Exchange on London 25f 13c for checks.

Berlin, May 23.—Prices on the Boerse to-day opened firm upon yesterday's New York advices, but later were depressed. Exchange on London 20 marks 44 pfgs. for checks. Discount rates: Short and three months' bills 4½ per cent.

LEAF TOBACCO.

Thursday Evening, May 23.—Most warehouses to-day reported the local leaf tobacco market firm and unchanged. Sales were of fair volume. The quality of the new Burley offered was fairly good and the condition was all that could be expected at this time of the year. Common and low grades were in good demand and firm, but medium grades showed some irregularity. Colory styles continued very scarce and in good request. Offerings of old Burley were very small. Prices as a rule were firm. No material change was noted in the dark market. Most all the different types continued to meet with good competition and rejections were light. Old dark was again strong and active, with quotations about the same as those last noted.

The Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company issued the following report of the leaf tobacco market this afternoon:

"The sales on our market for one week, including to-day, amounted to 2,476 hogsheads, divided as follows: Burley 617; dark 1,859.

"Burley.—Receipts and sales continue light. The market remains very strong on the common grades of Burley tobacco selling under 8c, the advance previously quoted being fully maintained this week. There has also been decidedly stronger competition on the medium to good grades of new Burley, with clear red color and the few hogsheads of this kind that were offered sold at outside prices, being stronger than at any time in the past six weeks.

"Dark Tobacco.—There is nothing new to say concerning the dark market except that competition is very strong on all grades and prices are as high for all grades as any one could wish."

The following is the report of offerings today on the Louisville market, including all the warehouses:

	Hhds.

Cincinnati, O., May 23.—(Special.)—The tobacco market continues on a par with the earlier days of the week, quotations showing no marked change. Total offerings 92 hogsheads. LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Louisville.

(Reported by the Louisville Live Stock Exchange, Bourbon Stock Yards.)

Louisville, May 23.—Cattle—The receipts of cattle to-day were 193 head; for the four days this week 2,059. The attendance of buyers was rather light; the market was quiet from start to finish, without any material change in values. Good to choice handy-weight butcher cattle were the best sellers, and everything of that description met with ready sale at current values; medium and common kinds were slow and draggy; the tendency toward a trifle lower values. Nothing much doing in the feeder and stocker trade; the best quotably steady; medium and plain grades slow; common, trashy stock cattle continue dull. Bulls and canners steady. Milch cow trade very dull and unsatisfactory. No heavy shipping cattle here to-day; feeling hardly as firm as early in the week. The pens were well cleared this evening; desirable cattle closed steady.

Calves—Receipts of calves 201 head; for the four days 583. The market ruled steady; bulk of the best around $6; some fancy a shade better; common calves slow sale.

Hogs—The receipts of hogs to-day were 3,355 head; for the four days this week 10,011. The market was slow in opening this morning, the demand being lighter than usual, and unfavorable reports from other markets caused values to decline fully 10c; heavy hogs were especially dull. We quote 200 pounds and up at $6.35@6.40; 100 to 200 pounds $6.40; lighter weights $5.50@5.80; roughs $5.75 down. The trade was draggy throughout the day, and closed very dull.

Sheep and Lambs—The receipts of sheep and lambs were 1,157 head; for the four days 2,513. The market ruled firm and a shade higher on good fat sheep; the best selling at $4.75@5.25; medium and common sheep slow sale at quotations. The lamb market was also firm, bulk of the best lambs selling around $8@8.50; some extra good lambs selling a dime higher; common and trashy lambs slow sale.

RAINS CAUSE DROP

IN WHEAT AND CORN IN CHICAGO PIT.

FINAL PRICES SHOW DECLINES OF 1 1-2c TO 2 3-8c.

OATS CLOSE AT 1-4C LOWER.

Chicago, May 23.—Wheat prices broke more than 2 cents per bushel on the Board of Trade to-day because of enormous realizing sales which were based on general rains throughout Nebraska and Iowa. The market closed weak with the July option showing a net decline of 2⅛@2⅜c. The September delivery was down 1½@1⅝c. July corn was down 1½@1⅝c. Oats were ¼c lower and provisions 7½@12½c lower.

The wet weather in the West swamped the wheat market with selling orders when trading began and opening quotations showed sharp losses, prices ranging all the way from ¼c above to 1⅝c below yesterday's closing figures. Local and outside longs were free sellers and there was also considerable selling for short account. While heavy rains had fallen in Nebraska and Iowa, the Kansas crop, according to early reports, was still without moisture. Later in the day, however, advices from Kansas City claimed that reports from several points in Kansas stated that the much-needed rain had made its appearance. This was the signal for a renewal of the bear raid on the market, which carried prices down with a rush, July selling off to 98⅝c, September to 99⅝c and December to $1.00⅞. The bulls throughout the entire day made strenuous efforts to bring about a rally, but their attempt proved ineffectual until within a half hour of the close, when, with the aid of shorts, prices were raised more than 1 cent above the low point of the day. Much of this buying by shorts was due to a cablegram which asserted that the wheat crop of Roumania was a total failure, owing to the drouth. The last five minutes of trading witnessed another sharp break in prices, due to renewed profit taking. A decline of more than 4 cents per bushel in the price of cash wheat at Kansas City helped to cause this final break. The market closed weak. July opened ¼c higher to 1⅝c lower at $1@1.01⅜, sold off to 98⅝c and closed at 99¼@99⅜c. September opened ¼@1¼c lower at $1.02 to $1.03, declined to 99⅝c and closed at $1.00½@1.00⅝. December opened ⅝@1⅝c lower at $1.02⅜@1.03⅛, dropped to $1.00⅞ and closed at $1.01⅝. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 185,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 533,000 bushels, compared with 226,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 314 cars against 412 last week and 134 a year ago.

The general rains in Nebraska and Iowa brought out liberal profit-taking sales in the corn market and caused a decline of about 2c per bushel in the price of that cereal. These sales were augmented by quite general selling by commission houses. Elevator interests and cash houses were active buyers on the break. The close was weak. July opened ⅜@½c to 1¼@1¼c lower at 52⅞@53⅝c, sold off to 52⅛c and closed at 52½c. Local receipts were 114 cars, with 43 of contract grade.

The wet weather in the West had also a depressing effect on the oats market and caused a decline of from 1 to 2 cents per bushel in that grain. The July delivery received better support than the more distant options, owing to the quite general belief that the new crop of oats will not be harvested in time to be available for delivery on July contracts. Cash houses and pit traders were the principal sellers, while offerings were taken mainly by commission houses. July opened unchanged to ⅜c lower at 46½@47⅜c, sold between 46½c and 47⅝c and closed at 47c. Local receipts were 87 cars.

There was little trading in provisions and the market was weak because of continued liberal hog receipts and the slump in grain. At the close July pork was off 12½c at $16.52½. Lard was down 7½c at $9.15. Ribs were 7½c@10c lower at $8.90.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat 45 cars; corn 174; oats 109; hogs 20,000 head.

GRAIN LETTERS.

Chicago.—The break was stimulated and bearish sentiment encouraged and extended by the reports of rains in Nebraska and portions of Kansas. Trade was of the belief that with rains the Kansas condition would come up materially. Conditions in the Northwest have been better on both sides of the line, reports indicating seeding about over and generally showing reduction of around 10 to 15 per cent. this side of the line, but uncertain beyond. Prussian crop reports show a condition of 64 against 82 a year ago, and 34.3 per cent. of winter wheat plowed up. This is equal to about 32,000,000 bushels. Private cables told of serious hail storms and freezing working widespread devastation in Germany to crops in the last two days.—(Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—The weak longs were forced to sell and commission houses were full of stop loss orders on July around a dollar. Foreign news was rather bullish and Prussian crop reports indicated a poor condition there and foreign markets were higher. The public is not tired of this wheat market yet, and their buying on this break will doubtless force the market to higher levels again, and we believe this is a good opportunity to renew lines that have been closed out or to take on more wheat.—(E. E. Paine & Co.

Chicago.—The one important feature in the situation was the breaking of the drouth over the West. Nebraska had good rains over night. The trade had this report before the opening. At least a dozen Kansas points report more or less rainfall to-day. The amount of the precipitation in that State is not known, and later reports, showing rainfall very heavy or very light, will have much to do in shaping prices to-morrow. Soaking rains all over the West will no doubt improve the harvest promise somewhat, and may cause some further liquidation by holders. This morning we advised selling of long wheat, with a view of replacing it on a good break. This is just the opportunity the trade had during the session. Market record figures on the shortage of spring wheat acreage is important. Rains cannot make good abandoned winter wheat acreage or unseeded area. Keep this in mind on the breaks. London sold nearly 2,000,000 bushels of wheat in the shape of cargoes to-day. Reports on German crops are very bad. Exporters are taking wheat freely at Duluth and Winnipeg. We believe the situation a healthy one and that further liquidation caused by rains will make a spot for buyers.—(Logan & Bryan to W. L. Lyons & Co.

Java's Coffee Crop.

According to a recent telegram to The Hague Government from the Governor General of Netherlands-India, the Government's Java coffee crop for this year is estimated at 39,000 piculs (a picul is equal to 1 1-3 pounds). In the colonial budget this crop was estimated by the Minister at 125,100 piculs, but at the end of January last the Minister was advised that the estimate had to be revised and to be reduced by 86,000 piculs. The reports from private estates are also very disappointing, and the exports of Java coffee generally promise to be very small this year. It is not yet known whether the Government will reduce the number of auctions, or whether a smaller quantity will be offered at each sale. At all events, the reduction of revenue, calculated at 0.33 florin (a florin equals 40.2c), per picul, will amount to about 280,000 florins.

New York Dry Goods.

New York, May 23.—The dry goods market holds very strong in the primary division. With jobbers wash goods and some sheer lines of summer wear are still slow. Some staple prints have been advanced to 6½c, an advance of ½c. Denims and tickings have been advanced. Many large orders are placed in the market for forward delivery. The buyers of underwear and hosiery are active on spring lines. Men's wear lines for spring are now being shown in some houses.

St. Louis Wool.

St. Louis, May 23.—Wool steady; medium grades, combing and clothing 26@27c; light fine 21@21½c; heavy fine 15@17c; tub-washed 30@37c.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, May 23.—The cotton market was more active to-day and was very firm in the early session, with new crop months making another high record for the season. Later there was a reaction and the close was steady at a net advance of 10@13 points. Sales were estimated at 530,000 bales. The opening was firm at an advance of 8@17 points on much higher cables and an unfavorable weather forecast, calling for unsettled weather, showers and lower temperatures in the South. Many bullish private crop advices were in from the South and it was rumored that the local bull leader would be out with a bullish estimate of acreage and conditions before the end of the day. There was an active demand on these factors, with shorts covering and a more general buying movement through wire and commission houses than previously this week, and the market worked up to a net advance of 23@24 points, with July selling at 11.15c and October at 11.43c, or about 43@48 points up from the low level of the previous day. There was heavy realizing at the advance and some selling by local bears, in spite of the report issued later by the bull leader estimating an increase in area of only 1.1 per cent. and the condition at 68.3 per cent., the market eased off in the afternoon. The close was 2 or 3 points up from the lowest on the near months as a result of covering. Southern spot markets were unchanged to ¼c higher.

Estimated receipts at the ports to-day 8,000 bales, against 10,427 last week and 10,876 last year; for the week 52,000 bales, against 59,264 last week and 75,516 last year; to-day's receipts at New Orleans 1,231 bales, against 2,101 last year, and at Houston 2,941, against 2,017 last year.

Spot cotton opened quiet; middling uplands 12.35c; do gulf 12.60c. Closed steady; sales 1,700 bales.

Futures closed steady. Prices ranged as follows:

Futures opened steady at an advance of from 14 to 17 points over the close of yesterday, as the result of favorable advices from Liverpool. It was essentially a weather market and when local indications pointed to showers this afternoon, there was an advance of 7 points between 2 o'clock and the closing. The close was steady with prices 23 points above the close yesterday. The range for the day was as follows:

Liverpool, May 23.—A good business was done in cotton futures here to-day. The market was rather excited, especially in the afternoon, when local shorts exhibited nervousness, owing to unfavorable crop news and bad weather reports. To-morrow and Saturday the exchange here will be closed and the shorts, fearing further unfavorable reports and more advances during the holidays, covered, causing an advance of 22½@23 points over the closing of yesterday. Buying orders from America also helped the advance.

Liverpool, May 23.—Spot cotton dull; small business done; prices 15 points higher; American middling fair 8.18d; good middling 7.64d; middling 7.16d; low middling 6.76d; good ordinary 6.10d; ordinary 5.72d. The sales of the day were 4,000 bales, of which 400 were for speculation and export and included 3,900 American; receipts 11,000 bales, including 10,900 American. Futures opened firm and closed feverish. The Cotton Exchange will be closed to-morrow and Saturday.

COTTON COMMENT.

New York.—It is our opinion that the trade is discounting the very worst possible conditions in the general crop situation and outlook, and we would rather advise caution against loading up with further speculative holdings during the present speculative boom.—(T. A. McIntyre & Co.

HIS POSITION

Defended By Judge Pryor In Statement.

CARD IN REPLY TO ADVERSE EDITORIAL COMMENT.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY HUFFAKER SECONDS HIM.

COL. HALDEMAN IN RESPONSE.

Taking umbrage at the adverse editorial comment in The Evening Times and The Louisville Herald regarding the dismissal of Dr. Sarah Murphy on peremptory instructions, Judge Joseph Pryor yesterday morning held a special session of the Criminal Court in order to deliver a statement of his position and to make a defense of his rulings. He professed that he did not believe the law gave him the authority to punish the editor of either paper for contempt and also took much pains to air his personal and political differences with them.

As an official utterance from the bench, it bids fair to claim a unique and altogether original position in the annals of Kentucky jurisprudence. Judge Pryor's comments had been written out beforehand and were read by him to those assembled in the courtroom.

J. M. Huffaker, Commonwealth's Attorney, who had taken no active part in the prosecution of Dr. Murphy, also made a statement in which he upheld Judge Pryor in his ruling, declaring it entirely just. He spoke in the highest terms of praise of J. T. O'Neal, one of Dr. Murphy's counsel, and declared that he had never seen Aaron Kohn, her leading attorney, do anything calculated to "dishonor an honored profession."

The statements are as follows:

* * *

To Explain His Position.

My first impulse was not to notice, but treat with contempt, the articles appearing in the editorial columns of the Morning Herald and The Evening Times of May 22, 1907, relative to the trial of Dr. Sarah Murphy, but I feel that in justice to myself, as these sheets have a small circulation outside of the city of Louisville, and that some persons who do not know me might get a false impression of the administration of justice in my court, that I should, at least, say something in defense of the false attitude in which I have been placed, and this is the sole and only reason that prompts me to reply at all to the scurrilous articles. I do not feel that my reputation, character and standing in this community (which is so well established) can be injured by the sayings or writings of such men as Haldeman or Newman. What appeared in The Evening Times relative to this case, and to my decision, was, I am sure, the result of a brainstorm which has been brewing in the mind of the editor of this paper ever since the rumor has been afloat as to the reversal of the election cases, he thereby realizing that his political star is about to set, and that he can no longer, or, at least, very little longer, act as the political ringmaster for the Democratic party in Louisville and Jefferson county, and he takes this means of making his fight against his political enemies, Mr. Graul and Mr. Kohn, over my shoulder; and because I saw fit, as I always do, to try the Murphy case according to the law and the evidence, and not the dictates of The Times and Herald, I, as Judge of the Jefferson Circuit Court, Criminal Division, come in for a like share of his abuse. Be it so.

"As to whether or not I am deserving of the abuse and scurrilous articles heaped upon me by these two editors, because of my decision in this case, I leave it to the public to say. It was, indeed, humiliating to me to have it known that the Editor of The Times had been so instrumental in having me elected to my present position, for I would rather have kept that from the public, being more ashamed of it than he could possibly be. As to the Editor of the Herald, I have little to say because no one who knows him, intimately, not even his best friends, ever takes anything that appears in the editorial columns of his paper seriously, but always considers the source, as they are aware of the fact that he has been suffering from the same disease as the editor of The Times during all of his life.

* * *

"All the Evidence" Considered.

"Dr. Sarah Murphy was indicted charged with murder. She was said to have caused the death of Katie Bryant by attempting an abortion upon her, and while there were three ways alleged in the indictment by which death could have resulted, still the Commonwealth relied solely and alone upon the use of instruments. The evidence shows (and I beg to state here that this case was tried upon all the evidence, and not upon the testimony of any one witness) that Katie Bryant died about 11 o'clock at the office of Dr. Murphy in this city. Within one hour after her death she was removed to Boden Brothers' undertaking establishment, and there by one of the Bodens prepared for an autopsy, that is, her clothing was removed by Mr. Boden. He states that at the time of the removal of said clothing, there was no blood of any kind on either the clothing or the person or limbs of Katie Bryant. The autopsy was held by Dr. Woody, of the City Hospital, at the instance of the coroner of this county, Dr. Kelly, who was present with him along with other physicians.

"Dr. Woody was told by Dr. Kelly to be careful in his examination, so Dr. Woody states, and for that reason he was careful. He found no evidences of an attempted abortion of any kind. Every part of the girl was intact, and Dr. Woody had no interest whatever in the case on either side, but was simply acting at the instance of the Coroner. He says that there were no signs of either an abortion or attempted abortion. He removed the uterus, making a thorough examination, and after puncturing the water sac with his scissors (that is, the sac in which the foetus was) put the uterus into a jar and put a lid on it, but did not seal same. He then removed this jar to his laboratory at the hospital, where he kept it two or three days, and then turned it over to a man whom he did not know, but afterward, when recalled to the witness stand, identified as Detective Ross. When he gave the jar to Ross it only contained the uterus. Ross in turn testified that he gave the jar to Drs. Weidner and Spears, who held their autopsy six days after the first autopsy had been held and four or five days after the second autopsy had been held. Six days later, when Drs. Weidner and Spears received the jar, it not only contained the uterus that was put there by Dr. Woody, but also the brain, kidney and other parts of the girl. I doubted at the time, and still doubt, the competency of Drs. Weidner and Spears' testimony, as they saw and held the autopsy after two other autopsies had been held, and after the body had been mutilated in such a way as to prevent their making a satisfactory examination, and especially as the witness for the Commonwealth, Dr. Woody, had already testified that he held the autopsy in one hour after the death and found the placenta and all the parts intact and in perfect order, and no evidence of an injury or attempted abortion of any kind.

State Given Every Benefit.

"But on account of the importance of case I allowed this testimony of Drs. Weidner and Spears to come in and gave the benefit of the doubt to the Commonwealth instead of the defendant, which is usual in criminal cases. Both of these doctors testified that they could not say what caused the death of Katie Bryant or that there was any evidence of an attempted abortion except the tear in the placenta, and both admitted that this could have occurred subsequent to the death and during the previous autopsies, and neither could say that an instrument had been used. Dr. Spears stated that in his judgment the most likely cause of the death was the attempted abortion, but the defendant was not being tried for what could have caused the girl's death or the 'likely' cause, but for the murder of Katie Bryant, and there was no evidence connecting her in any way with the offense.

"The blood stains referred to in the evidence were found two days after the clothing had been removed by Mr. Boden from the body of the dead girl and after the first autopsy had been held. There was no evidence upon the part of the Commonwealth to show the condition of the girl before she entered the house of Dr. Murphy or that she was ever in the operating room of Dr. Murphy, but, on the contrary, the testimony of Capt. Hendricks, in giving what purported to be the confession of the defendant, Dr. Murphy, showed that the girl claimed to be suffering from kidney disease and that Dr. Murphy upon an examination ascertained that she was pregnant and notified her that she must leave the house at once, and that on account of the poverty of the girl, she not having any money at said time, the doctor allowed her to remain with the understanding that she was to go on Monday, and on Sunday preceding the Monday on which she was to leave the house she died.

"As to what an absent witness would have stated, if present, who was outside the jurisdiction of the court, I had no concern. The case had been called three times and this witness had never appeared, and there was no assurance that she ever would, but, upon the contrary, everything indicated that she would not; and even if present her testimony could have amounted to but little, if anything, as it appeared before me that she had made contrary statements under oath to material facts to lawyers on both sides of the case.

"In conclusion, I beg to say that if the morals of this community are to be looked after and fashioned by the political editors of the Morning Herald and The Evening Times, then in the language of the negro woman, I say, 'God help us all.'

"I regret very much that under the law I am unable to reach the editors of these papers by a contempt proceeding, but after a thorough examination I have satisfied myself that if I attempted to do so it would be using arbitrary power such as is not warranted under the decisions, and while I feel personally and judicially like these men should be punished, yet at the same time my hands are tied under the law, and I can only resort to this way of setting myself right before a just public."

* * *

Supports Judge Pryor.

Mr. Huffaker said:

"In view of what has been published, not of me but of your Honor, who is the highest official of this court, I deem it my duty as an arm of this court to make a statement. It has come to my knowledge through the public press that this court has been censured for the acquittal of Mrs. Boss for killing her husband. As the Commonwealth's Attorney, charged with the solemn duty of my office I will say that I prosecuted her with all the vigor, power and efficiency that God has given me. The evidence shows her to be a woman sixty years of age, a wife and a mother. She had suffered the pangs of maternity eleven times that children from her drunken husband might live. Six she raised to be honored members of society. Five times she stood by the open grave of her offspring. By this brutal, drunken husband she was driven from the home that should have been her protection. I cross-examined her until she fell fainting on the witness stand. Her evidence showed that she had been tied to a drunken brute. She proved a case of self-defense. My conscience and my soul approves of what I have done and I believe my God approves.

"As to the Ritz case, that was mentioned also in condemnation of your honor. While I was not active in the prosecution of it, I know that all that money could do to convict him was done. They hired four lawyers to convict him, and I believe that a jury honestly chosen rendered a fair verdict in his acquittal.

"I must say as to the Murphy case, I was not active in its prosecution because eminent and powerful counsel had been employed to assist me, but at no time did I fail to give them such aid as they deemed necessary.

* * *

State Had "No Further Rights."

"I wish to say to your honor, and I say it in defiance of the press, when no attack has been made on me, but say it as a man who tries to do right, that after one continuance had been granted the Commonwealth it had no further legal grounds for a continuance.

"Knowing your Honor, knowing your heritage, knowing your young manhood, knowing your preceptors, knowing your family, I wish to say that I believe your Honor acted as a just Judge, uninfluenced except to see the right and as chiefest official, except your Honor, in this court, I am here to commend your ruling.

"There have been tried in this court twenty-eight persons on the charge of murder since last October. Only three have been acquitted, and of those convicted but one escaped with the smallest penalty, and that was a woman. The acquittals were in the Coons, Boss and Murphy cases, and your Honor justly did not allow a jury to pass upon the Murphy case. If the press of this city hunger for the blood of innocent and defenseless womanhood I will not allow it to be made a tool for political vengeance.

"As for Mr. O'Neal he has practiced many years in this court. Once in the heat of a political campaign I denounced him for defending aggravated murder cases. But never, will I say has he been guilty of any chicanery or sharp practice in this court. To-day I love and honor and revere him. As for Mr. Kohn upon one occasion in the heat of argument I may have said things unkind and unjust. Of late years he has seldom come into this court to defend murderers. Though I have an eye to see and a mind to discern, I have at no time detected him in any practice that would bring dishonor upon an honored profession. As for this court its record is its own defender to silence the tongues of slander."

* * *

Col. Haldeman's Position.

Col. W. B. Haldeman, editor of the Evening Times, and who is referred to rather pointedly in the statement to the public made by Judge Pryor, yesterday afternoon in an editorial in his paper, explained his position in the matter as follows:

"When Mr. Haldeman is charged with a specific offense, it will be time enough for him to answer it. Sufficient unto the day be the evil thereof. It is Judge Pryor who is on trial, not the Editor of The Times, who will be neither blackguarded, nor diverted from his duty. One case at a time, Judge, one case at a time."

Internal Revenue Collections.

The internal revenue collections yesterday for the Fifth district of Kentucky were as follows: Whisky, $39,372.49; tobacco, $10,330.80; cigars, $1,011.30; beer, $165; bottling stamps, 40 cents; special tax, $8.34; total, $50,897.84.

HIS OWN COUSIN

Shot and Killed By Jefferson Rairden.

SLAYER SAYS JOS. SNAWDER CHASED HIM WITH AX.

BELIEVED HIM INSANE AND USED REVOLVER.

WERE ONCE LIKE BROTHERS.

Believing that his victim had become insane and was trying to kill him with an ax, Jefferson Rairden, a grower of ginseng on the Cane Run road, shot and instantly killed his cousin, Joseph Snawder, at his home Wednesday afternoon. There were no witnesses to the shooting, but, according to Rairden, Snawder had chased him around his kitchen several times, threatening him with an upraised ax, before he emptied the contents of a revolver in his body. Five shots were fired, four of which took effect in Snawder's body.

The shooting was heard by farmers who had been working in their fields, and they approached the Rairden place to see Rairden fleeing down the Cane Run road at breakneck speed. He ran a distance of two and a half miles to the home of his brothers, William and Henry Rairden, and fell exhausted after telling them of the killing. Accompanied by his brothers, Rairden went to Orell and surrendered himself to Deputy Sheriff Charles Cox, who permitted him to spend the night at the home of his brothers on parole. Yesterday morning he was lodged in the Jefferson county jail charged with murder.

The gathering of the crowd, Rairden declares, is what caused him to run to the home of his brothers. Visions of an infuriated mob seeking his life because of the killing of his cousin frightened him so that he did not stop running until he reached the door steps of his brothers' home, and even then he could not rest until he had surrendered himself to the Deputy Sheriff.

Shot In Self-Defense.

"I was justified in shooting my cousin," Rairden said yesterday afternoon, "but I realized that a maddened mob of men would not give me time to explain the situation to them. When I saw them coming toward my home I ran. I passed several people on the road, but they did not stop me, evidently believing that I was not responsible for my cousin's death.

"Why did I kill Joe? Because he threatened me with an ax; because I knew that there was insanity in the family, and because I firmly believed that he had suddenly become a raving maniac and wanted to kill me. We were sitting in the kitchen and conversing sociably with each other. All of a sudden I saw Joe reach in a corner where an ax was standing. Raising the ax above his head, he yelled, 'I'm going to kill you,' and rushed at me.

"At first I thought he was just monkeying with me. He chased me around the room several times. I looked back and saw such a look of idiotic rage on his face that I firmly believed that he was insane. Nobody was in the house, as I live the life of a bachelor. The door was shut and I couldn't get out. I grasped my gun that was lying on a shelf and fired it several times. Joe's body fell, and I ran."

Two Men Like Brothers.

Rairden has conducted a ginseng farm on the Cane Run road for ten years, during which time Snawder had been in his employ off and on. The men had always been on friendly relations and it had often been remarked in the neighborhood that the men seemed to be closer to each other than brothers. Snawder had lived with Rairden for several years. Snawder was fifty-one years of age and was a son of the late George Snawder, a well-to-do farmer of South Park. Miss Mary Snawder and Mrs. Robert Stultz of Brooks' Station, are surviving sisters. County Patrolman A. R. Snawder is a cousin.

Rairden is forty years of age. He has seven brothers and one sister. They are Henry Rairden, Tom Rairden, William Rairden, Peter Rairden, John Rairden, Joseph Rairden, Ben Rairden and Mrs. Martha Smythers. According to members of the family, there has been insanity in the Snawder family, George Snawder, a brother of the man killed, being confined in Central Asylum for the Insane at Lakeland now.

Rairden was presented before Judge Wilson in the County Court yesterday morning and his examining trial was fixed for May 27. He was committed to jail without bond to await the hearing.

RHEUMATISM CAN BE CURED.

That rheumatism is one of the most obstinate of diseases most physicians will declare, and that once it takes firm hold upon the human system its victim is in for a period of great suffering is equally true. Modern methods in medicine are, however, doing much to rob rheumatism of its terrors, and doctors of wide experience say that in the treatment of the disease great success follows the faithful use of these prescriptions: Have a good druggist prepare anti-rheumatic tablets composed of 2½ grains Sodium Bicarbonate, 3 grains Salicylic Acid and 1 minim Wine of Colchicum. Take one of these tablets before each meal, following it immediately with a glass of water. After each meal take one tablespoonful of a preparation of ¼ oz. Fluid Extract of Buchu, 1 dram Fluid Extract of Horse Nettle, 1 oz. Amet Cordial, ¼ oz. Fluid Extract of Liverwort and 14 ozs. water. Any first-class pharmacy can compound these prescriptions. The treatment, which should be continued for a month, is reported to work wonders, even in cases that have resisted other medicines.

Hearing On Saloon Licenses.

The license board will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of reopening the case of Robert J. Casey, who is applying for a license to open a saloon at 2101 Maple street. The case was before the license board a week or two ago, when it was discovered that the petition for the saloon license and the protest by the citizens appeared to be signed in some instances by the same persons. The board continued the hearing until the attorneys in the case might investigate the duplication of signatures.
